

Paradise Spa Homes Popular

Two homes at almost opposite ends of the price range are proving the most popular at Paradise Spa, the $40 million Las Vegas condominium resort community, according to general manager Richard E. Eckenweiler.

The San Jaun (cq), a two-bedroom home with a large living room, spacious kitchen and handsome exterior, has attracted a great many second-home buyers, he reports.

Priced at $15,750, the San Jaun is large enough for out-of-town owners to entertain guests and can be easily maintained, it was pointed out.

On a larger scale, the Paradise Royale provides three bedrooms, a comfortable family room, dining room and two baths. A further benefit of this home is its flexibility, whereby the living room or master bedroom can be expanded, depending on the needs of the owner.

Located at 9457 Las Vegas Blvd., So., just five minutes from the Strip, Paradise Spa encompasses 400 homes, two spacious health clubs, a theater-auditorium, swimming pools, mineral whirlpools, steam baths, a tennis court, volley ball and other recreational facilities.

In addition, horseback riding is available through use of the Spa's own stables at the rear of the 300-acre development.

Such attractions as community barbecues and a new art gallery are also proving popular, points out Eckenweiler.

Meanwhile, replacement work is set to begin on the small area of the community which was affected by the recent fire. Damage was limited to one unit of the development, so it is expected it will be rebuilt quickly.

Tours of Paradise Spa are held daily with sales representatives on hand as escorts. Overnight accommodations are also available for guests, in addition to ala carte programs for non-residents in the health clubs, according to health club director Tony Ciulla.

Such personalities as Tony Martin, Charles Aznavour and Mamie Van Doren visited Eckenweiler recently at the Spa.
