

HERE & THERE In Our Community

by Kay Wallerstein
For this delegate there have been conferences and conventions - all with their own messages, P.T.A., U. J.A., Brandeis - all worth while.

But none have had the impact of the beautiful, articulate, inspiring people, as well as the profound, exciting discussion engendered at the Conference of the Pacific Southwest Branch of the National Women's League at Palm Springs.

"Life Up Thy Voice in Strength," was the theme, and education stood first on the agenda, with accent on youth.

It was indeed gratifying to note that an accredited National Women's League observer at the United Nations keeps Sisterhood members in touch with developments and issues in the international sphere.

Involvement is the keyword of education. That parents become involved with their children's aims and planning, particularly where their exposure to Judaism is concerned, is indeed of utmost importance. Many new ideas and much new thought is yet forthcoming as a result of this conference.

Our new president Ann Pink took to her work like the proverbial duck to water and ran - not walked - to all the sessions. We were very proud of our Rebbitzen, Rita Gold, in her several readings of prayers during Services in the morning and at the closing session, where she was seated on the top dais, thereby bringing honor to Las Vegas.

Others attending were Etta Harmell and Dianne Kishner. (Ed. note: Kay, Etta and Dianne are paid subscribers to Las Vegas Israelite.)

With the excitement of the conference now a memory - tho' never dim - it is my considered opinion that many more of us should attend the forthcoming conferences, so that we may do WELL that which we must do, and so very much remains yet to be done.
