5-Term President of
Temple Beth Sholom

A year has come and gone. Just like that!

May 1966-1967 term in office has come to its conclusion. I am pleased and proud to turn over the reins of office to a very capable young man, Arthur Marshall, who was elected to succeed me at the last meeting of the Temple Board of Directors. Art has been a member of the Board for some time, and has shown himself to be an astute individual, with an intense feeling for the welfare of the Temple. I believe that Art is the youngest President Temple Beth Sholom has ever had. This will stand us in good stead, since he brings into the President's seat new vigor and energy. I can tell Art that being President of a Temple is a signal honor, not given to most men. It calls for effort and dedication above and beyond the normal. At times there may be frustration and aggravation, but the reward is usually commensurate with the effort. The compensatory factor is the greatest feeling that comes with honest endeavor and final achievement.

I take this opportunity to extend my personal congratulations and sincerest good wishes to Arthur and his staff of officers who were elected for the year 1967-1968.

Mr. Marshall's primary concern will be the proper implementation of the Fair Share Dues Plan, which goes into effect for the Temple's next fiscal year, beginning September 1, 1967. This one program can give the Temple the financial stability it needs. It requires only a positive attitude on the part of the members, whose understanding and cooperation is imperative if the plan is to succeed. As I expressed in an earlier column, I feel certain that our membership will respond properly to this new dues plan.

And so, my final column is in print. In editorial parlance, I shall say, "It's 30 here." In expressing a fond farewell, I ask that you give your new officers your wholehearted support. I pledge my continued personal interest and willingness to work with our new Board and officers whenever called upon. Each of them is eager, dedicated and willing. I know that they will be worthy of our faith and confidence in them. I hope you will join me in seeing to it that we, the members, prove worthy of their efforts and

Review Journal Journalism

THIS INSULT APPEARED IN L.V. REVIEW JOURNAL

To the Editor:

We note with increasing alarm the overbearing editorial antics of the publisher of the paper down the street in relation to the scintillating Israeli victory just concluded. We must assume that this is a Jewish-owned newspaper.

We are strangers in Las Vegas and will remain in the vicinity only a few days but we cannot fail to note that extra-vacant hand across the sea - to Israel which will hand over one billion dollars in American money in so-called survival aid to the great victorious Israeli state. What is going on here anyway?

In America there are thousands of handicapped people, many thousands of underprivileged children, a scarcity of adequate housing, Navajo Indians who live in squalor, millions on relief. What possesses these people who live and earn their billions in the United States to pour their dole into a foreign land?

There are agencies, government grants, etc. to take care of any assistance we must give to Israel. Why suddenly should Jews in America consider that Israel should first and foremost be the beneficiaries of a billion dollars in cash? This is the most insultingly ridiculous thing we have ever heard of!

Maybe every Irish cop in New York should donate a years salary now to Erin to aid the heavily-burdened washerwomen in County Cork!

Yes there will be a hue and cry about this thing gentlemen make no mistake. All of this is reminiscent of the days before War II in Berlin when Jewish industrialists grabbed all the Deutschmarks and sent their nephews and son-in-laws off to the United States to do the same thing there!

This one billion dollar donation proposition needs some exploitation Mr. Editor, and we might add, an eyebrow or two raised how ever so slightly - just to let the Jews know we haven't overlooked their looking askance at those people in America who could use a billion dollars. That could feed and clothe and house one hell of an army of needy Americans!

Doris M. Armstrong
Chicago,

The Las Vegas Israelite reprints the above outrage that appeared in the guise of a letter to the editor in the Review Journal to be certain that every member of the Jewish community of Nevada, plus the hundreds of Gentile subscribers and readers of this paper are fully aware of the depths to which a daily newspaper will sink.

We are not concerned with the writer of the offensive missile, or whether such writer does in fact exist. We are concerned with the judgement of the editor who chose this particular "letter" to publish from what must certainly have been a great many others on a variety of subjects. The wording of this "letter" obviously concocted by a professional Jew-baiter, is admittedly attributed to a stranger in our midst with the vague address of Chicago, Ill. Rather than mitigate the responsibility of the editor for maintaining an "Open Forum" to his local readers FROM A LOCAL READER, he has compounded the gravity of his offence by insulting every American in our area.

This cowardly, crass, coxenage by the Review Journal

Hats Off to Slats

by JACK TELL

Word has been received by the Las Vegas Israelite that our good friend, Senator James M. Slattery, who assumed the chairmanship of the Emergency Israel Fund, brought in more money than has ever been achieved before in Reno for a Jewish drive.

The good senator, conducted a house-to-house and street corner-to-street corner campaign. After accepting the chairmanship from devotion. Your support of the Fair Share Dues Plan is of utmost importance.

Many thanks to Jack Tell, editor and publisher of the Israelite, for making this column space available. I hope you enjoyed reading it. Every word in it was sincere. Shalom!!!!!!

Rabbi Jack Frankel of Temple Emanu-El in Reno, Sen. Slattery spared no time, effort or personal expense to bring Israel's urgent message to all Americans.

Every member of the Jewish Faith in Nevada extends deepest gratitude to Slats.
