same.
An American Indian and patriot,
G.G. DAVE

Now let's take a look at the one foisted on its readers by the editor of the Review Journal.

Indian Raps Israelis

Dear Editor:

I cannot get over the praise heaped on the Israel army for the sneak attack on the Arabs.

After the facts have been revealed, the world will know the Israelites hit with all their might in a sneak attack just as devastating as Pearl Harbor.

Now, this is called a great military victory. If I went out and shot an enemy in the back just because he carried a gun, I would be considered a murderer. There is absolutely no difference.

Yours Truly,
Jess Rainwater

Again, we want it clearly understood, that the purpose of the Letters to the Editors column is to have an open forum, where all views are entitled to be expressed. But this does not mean that rank, obnoxious lies, so far removed from any possible truth, should be presented to insult the intelligence of the readers.

For instance: The audacity of the editor who printed "the Israelites hit with all their might in a SNEAK ATTACK...." Why even the Arabs at the United Nations, or the Russians do not claim it was a SNEAK ATTACK. The question of who was the aggressor may very well be subject of controversy, but with two armies ready and poised across a battle line, how could any reasonable person -- EXCEPT THE REVIEW JOURNAL EDITOR -- allow it to be interpreted as a SNEAK ATTACK?

Another letter, from an indignant reader was printed in the Review Journal. Here it is:

Las Vegas
'Amazed'
At Letter

To the Editor:

Throughout the past fifteen years I have been a consistent advertiser in the Review Journal, and I was amazed, indeed over-whelmed, by the repugnant "Letter" from a Chicago resident which you published. I refer, of course, to a Doris M. Armstrong's vicious attack on the Jewish community and her invidious protest against Jewish aid to Israel.

Whether your decision to publish such a bizarre comment reflects an attempt to discredit the "Jewish-owned" Vegas Sun or indicates a vicarious expression of your own views, the decision to print such bigotry gravely calls into question professional integrity and common sense judgment.

To be sure, it is now the newspaper's responsibility to the community to publish a statement which clarifies the views on the contents of this letter. I hope the newspaper will extend the same courtesy to me in publishing this letter, as was given to a simple tourist.

George Rosencrantz

This letter was printed apparently because George Rosencrantz is an advertiser. Many others told the Israelite they were going to write, but this is the only one

Unmolested Arabs on Move

By Charles M. Segal

JERICHO, Israel Occupied Territory: -- Thousands of Arab refugees are flocking to the West Bank of the Jordan River daily, anxious to leave Israeli occupied territory. They are not escaping from maltreatment by Israeli soldiers. These Arabs are not motivated by patriotism or devotion to the cause of Pan-Arabism. They are simple people desperately seeking to rejoin their families separated by the lightning Middle East War.

I have seen and talked to these refugees as they gathered at the Allenby Bridge here. They came from the refugee camp here and from Jerusalem, Hebron, Nablus and Latrun. Many of them were transported in modern buses and men, women and children drove to the bridge in comfort, smiling and waving at passers-by. Others came in private cars (American makes), taxis, trucks and wagons. Household belongings were piled neatly on the roofs of vehicles as though they were going off on some vacation.

All the Arabs I talked with said that they were well-treated by the Israelis and they were not being forced to leave their homes. The Israeli policy enables Arabs to leave Israel territory if they wish to do so, but once they leave they cannot return.

At the Allenby Bridge, there is a depressing sight as this mass of humanity is seen clambering down a rough plank causeway at a steep incline for 20 feet in order to get to the river bank. The bridge had been blown up by the Jordanians and when the Israelis tried to put up a wooden bridge to facilitate the refugees, they were fired upon by Hussein's troops.

Israeli soldiers try to help the Arab refugees make their way across the river. You can see the Israelis carrying babies and small children in their arms as they tread their way down the causeway, or you can see them helping old men and women or lugging big bundles on their backs in the boiling sun of this Dead Sea Valley.

One Arab woman, who works for the Y.M.C.A. in Ramallah, was taking her nephew's children to the bridge. My nephew works in Kuwait, but sent his children to live in Ramallah because the climate is better and the education facilities are very good. But now he had a good job in Kuwait and wants to have his family with him, so I am taking them to the bridge. He will meet them on the other side -- he is waiting there. Then I will go back to Ramallah."

She wanted permission to speak to her nephew on the other side, but it had not yet been granted. An Israeli officer said he would try to arrange it.

Sadi Abdul Mahdi, a cook for the British ambassador in Amman, was at the bridge, too. His family lives in Hebron and he had applied for a permit to visit them. He said he wanted to make sure that his family was well and happy in Hebron. If not, he wanted to move them to Amman. He had been waiting at the bridge for two days and still had no word from Israeli authorities as to whether he would be permitted to go to Hebron.

Another young Arab, Yechiel Sultan -- a truck driver in Baghdad -- was also waiting for permission to visit his family in Hebron.

All such applications are being carefully scrutinized by that saw daylight. It was a nice start, George, but now we'll show you proof why you should take your ads out of the paper.

Ordinarily we would interpret the following headline as a mis-read, or misunderstood story, but in view of the circumstances showing a calculated and planned method to discredit Israel, we are inclined to believe this is the format for the Review Journal.

Here is what the headline said:
ISRAELIS ARRESTING JEWS WHO SUPPORT ARAB AIMS
From this we gather that there are Jews in Israel who are traitors to their own country.

But what does the story say? It is a Times of London Dispatch, datelined Cyprus. Here is the opening paragraph: "Hundreds of Egyptian Jews are being arrested as a wave of anti-Jewish feeling sweeps the United Arab Republic following its humiliating defeat by Israel.

The lengthy story goes on to state the members of the Jewish community and British and Americans might be used as a scapegoat for the U.A.R.'s plight. No where in the story is there any mention of Israelis arresting Jews, as expressed in the headline.

That's what we mean by the sly, sneaky method being used by the Review Journal to instill disfavor for the Jews.

That is why we encourage all our readers and all who support Israel, to do as so many have already done -- cancel your subscription, don't advertise, and don't support those who do advertise in the Review Journal.

Why should we go on feeding the hand that bites us? Every time one of these insults appear, it is a direct slap at each individual one of us. How long are we going to stand for it? What are we waiting for?

No decent person should have anything to do with the Las Vegas Review Journal, until it publishes a statement, requested by Rosencrantz, which clarifies the views on the malicious letter it printed denouncing American Jews who came to the aid of Israel.

Israeli authorities but it takes time and time is something that Arabs working in Amman, Kuwait or Baghdad do not have. They come to the bridge and want quick action.

Mingling among the Arab refugees are representatives of the International Red Cross and UNICEF as well as members of the Catholic clergy. They walk and talk with the refugees and nobody hinders them in any way.

At one point, we heard two shots from across the river. An Israeli officer explained:

"People try to cross the river farther up the bank. There is one of your jeeps stationed there and the soldiers fire into the air to stop crossings."

The celebrated Jordan River at the Allenby Bridge is a tiny stream five or six metres wide and 1-1/2 to 2 meters deep. One Israeli soldier asked: "What is this called?" He couldn't believe it was the Jordan.

At no time during my visit to the Allenby Bridge was there anything resembling panic. At no time was there any brutality.

Refugees are never a pleasant sight. But it would be worthwhile for members of the General Assembly to come to the Allenby Bridge to see for themselves how the Israelis are treating the Arab refugees who want to leave here for no other reason than to rejoin their families.

LONDON (WNS) Soviet press reports of alleged Israeli atrocities in the occupied Arab territories have triggered a climate of fear among Soviet Jews, many of whom are said to be fearful of venturing into the streets.

TEL AVIV (WNS) The Israeli Army intelligence has released captured documents showing that the Jordanian Army had issued orders to wipe out the civilian population in Israel border settlements.

LONDON (WNS) Formation of a Nazi Party in India has been reported by Reuters in a dispatch from New Delhi, India.
