ostensibly written by a visitor to our city from Chicago, condemning the Jewish people of this country in general and of this city in particular, for joining ranks so spontaneously in order to raise funds - a huge amount was the goal - for the support of the people of Israel in their hour of crisis. What motivated this scurrilous and vituperative outburst on the part of this lady (if I may use the term) is not important, for she is entitled to her opinion, no matter how asinine it may be or how much others might disagree with it.

My criticism is not directed at her but to your editorial policy in ostensibly endorsing the view of such a malcontent. Your apparent endorsement is evidenced by the fact that you do not even pay lip service to your disagreement with these views with the traditional journalistic disclaimer regarding opinions expressed by your correspondents.

And now you have compounded the offense. In last Sunday's edition (July 2nd), your printed a letter of protest sent to you by Mr. George Rosencrantz, and then, in juxtaposition, you printed another diatribe penned by a gentleman who signs himself as an American Indian. I doubt that this was an accident; it has all the appearance of being a calculated and deliberate act.

I have no quarrel with the writer of the letter appearing next to Mr. Rosencrantz'. I would not deny him the right to believe a postulate that not even some one hundred and twenty-odd delegates to the United Nations have as yet agreed upon. By the same token, I would not deny him the right to believe that his ancestor, Sitting Bull, was a master military technician when he massacred Gen. George Custer's troops. Everyone has the right to be wrong and this right is guaranteed by the Constitution. It is one of the attributes of the might of this nation that each person has the right to think and speak as he pleases - right or wrong though he be, in doing so.

A newspaper, too, is entitled to be wrong, but only in factual reporting. No newspaper worthy of the name has the right to express, openly or tacitly, religious or racial bias, as you appear to have done. It matters little to me whether or not you publish this letter; what does concern me is that you acknowledge with equal candor and prominence your disavowal of any prejudice and an apology, not only to the Jewish people of this community (of which I am one), but to all of your readers. Failing this, I shall have to re-evaluate the matter of continuing my subscription.

Very truly yours,
Sid Peilte

You Can Have Him

by Samuel Silver

Mr. Kosygin was hard to take. First, there was his performance at the UN, with the Big Lie technique in high gear. No matter how much evidence was offered to prove that it was not Israel who was responsible for the war, Kosygin maliciously referred to Israel "aggression."

Of Nasser's offensive actions and the intractability of the Arab leaders he had nothing to say.

You would think that a nation like Russia, which claims to be on the side of the common man, would feel repugnance against the slave-holders, monarchists and brutes who head up the Arab nations. But no, Kosygin likes them.

Then there was the Kosygin press conference. After meeting with President Johnson, the Russian minister was expected to take a milder course.

But, as though nothing has happened, he reiterated his mendacious and malevolent script at the news conference.

And the questions asked at that long session were quite asinine, too. Perhaps other queries were submitted, but the ones heard were not very helpful.

Why wasn't Kosygin asked whether he approves of Nasser's use of poison gas in Yemen, a fact twice substantiated by the Red Cross?

Why wasn't Kosygin asked why he doesn't permit Russian Jews to leave the country if he is so great an advocate of freedom?

Asked about Russian antisemitism, Kosygin said that some of his best deputies are Jews.

Yes but if these Russian Jews became interested in Judaism, what would happen to them?

Khrushchev would also counter the charge of antisemitism by pointing to the fact that some Soviet officials are Jews.

But that sidesteps the real question. To advance in Russia, a person born Jewish must renounce adherence to his faith. In Kosygin knows that, even as the slimy Saudi Arabian at the UN knows that many Arab nations have persecuted Jews even though they are fellow Semites.

Yes, Kosygin is hard to take.

Paradise Spa, Future Strip

A home is generally considered to be a good investment, but a residence at Paradise Spa can be compared to a ground floor purchase in a growing corporation, points out Charles Martin, general manager of the Las Vegas condominium health resort.

The ground, in this case, is Las Vegas Blvd., So., a stretch of land that is glowing as a natural extension of the bustling Strip. Paradise Spa, a 400-home community clustered around a man-made lake, health club and other facilities, has risen just four miles from the Strip.

As Las Vegas continues to grow, the city will spread towards the Spa and greatly increase land values at the popular resort, declares Martin.

The development offers a full range of health and recreational facilities, completed and ready for use by residents and guests. Available are separate health clubs for men and women, two swimming pools, steam, sauna and whirlpool baths, a volleyball and tennis court, and a pitch and putt course.

The one - two - three bedroom homes include in their $13,750 to $25,000 purchase price draperies, carpeting and refrigerated air conditioning. As part of the overall community is a man-made lake which serves as the focal point for Paradise Spa. At night its shores are lighted by rings of fire.

Daily tours of the condominium community are conducted by sales manager Bob Rohlman and his staff.

"A la carte" programs are available to non-residents, and guests will find overnight accommodations.

The homes can be purchased for as little as $300 down.
