

Barney Glazer In Hollywood

Fans who are sold in the two talented Jewish lads may soon be able to buy stock over the counter in Don Adams and Bill Dana... Jill St. Johns was an unusual assumed name for a young Jewish actress but now that Jill has married singer Jack Jones are you quite ready for Jill St. Jones?... Barbra Streisand rented her home from director Jean Negulesco, who has never directed her.

When you see the violence involving Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor in MGM's "The Comedians," you won't ever dare set foot in Haiti. Haiti's economy heads won't like this tourist detraper! Those bloody scenes in the movie are, oy vay, so gory and screamy! But you should have seen the scenes they cut out. Like the police thug slitting a physician's throat. I almost passed out from the sudden shock at the preview showing before they eliminated the scene.

Nothing stirring romantically for Dinah Shore. Her second marriage and divorce cured her for a long time. Meanwhile, Dinah's first husband, George Montgomery, is swinging from one feminine limb to another... Negro entertainers are respecting Dr. Martin Luther King's stand to stay away from Vietnam, but not Sammy Davis, Jr. He says he'll go as long as Negro GIs are fighting.

Buddy Hackett has been named executive vice president of two glass companies. Wonder if Buddy can use a Glazer?... After a 12-year acquaintanceship, Barbara Bain is still amazed by her husband Martin Landau's talent. She insists to this day that Martin, one of Jewry's most talented actors, should have shared her Emmy, which she won for her role as Cinnamon in CBS-TV's Mission: Impossible.

JCSC FILM PARTY

The Jewish Center Social Club will hold a theatre party, tomorrow, Saturday, October 21, at 8 p.m., at the Cinerama Theatre. The happiest motion picture of the year, "Thoroughly Modern Millie" will be shown. Following the movie, all will meet at Macayo Vegas for refreshments.

Tickets are $2.25 per person and reservations are necessary. Members and friends are asked to call Roz Sbarra at 870-1904 or Adrienne Blatt at 870-3688.

a script for the series (with a dual role for himself) and will direct the cast and himself in another segment... Almost one half of Jesse White's healthy wages comes from those sickening commercials... Michael Callan is still dating his former co-star Patricia Harty. Bet on a marriage as soon as Mickey's divorce finalizes from Carlyn.

Friends are worried about Barbra Streisand. They say that oversaturation will axe her career early... Dimitri Tiomkin's holdup and pistol whipping at his palatial residence was long overdue. I've visited his Hancock Park home with its easy access from the sidewalk and wondered why Dimitri didn't protect it with guards.

There won't be an Eddie Fisher-Connie Stevens wedding until Joey Forman gets the important phone call to stand up as best man. When Joye and Eddie open Oct. 27 at the Las Vegas Frontier Hotel, Connie will be in town. It could happen there... Fisher employed his younger brother Bunny as his manager and changed Bunny's name to Al Fisher.

Sheky Greene announced he isn't afraid to tell Frank Sinatra stories now that he knows Frank can't fight. Caesars Palace, Las Vegas, soon books "Fiddler on the Roof" and Sheky would give his eyeteeth to play the lead. George Rosenkrantz, Las Vegas furniture retailer, agrees with this column that Sheky would make a remarkable Tevya. It will probably go to a name with bigger boxoffice draw, unfortunately for Sheky.

ANOTHER FOX THEATRE FOR VEGAS IN FEB

Ground-breaking ceremonies heralded start of construction of a new 850-seat deluxe Fox West Coast Theatres' motion picture theatre here, it was announced by William H. Thedford, vice president and director of theatre operations for National General Corporation, Los Angeles-based company.

Taking part in the ceremonies were Thedford, director of theatre operations; John Klee, Pacific Coast division manager for Fox West Coast Theatres; and Irwin Molasky, president of Paradise Homes, owners of the theatre. The theatre will be located on Maryland Parkway, just south of the Broadway-Sears-Penney complex. Completion date has been set for February, 1968, and will coincide with the completion date of the Penney store and the Mall, which will then make the Boulevard Shopping Center the largest shopping center in Southern Nevada.

Also on hand at the ceremonies were Mrs. Joyce Hartley, head of Las Vegas area PTA; Grant Stewart, city commissioner; Rev. Tally Jarrett, vice president of Las Vegas Ministerial Association; James Ryan, chairman, Clark County Commissioner; Harry Lahr, vice president Paradise Homes; Dick Goldsworthy, manager of the Fox Charleston Theatre; and John Echols, manager of the Nevada Drive-In Theatre.

The showplace will be equipped with the newest projection processes, including stereophonic and transistorized sound and wide angle screen. Scientifically-controlled refrigerated air-conditioning and heating and American bodiform chairs will add to the comfort of patrons. Ultra-modern in design, the estimated cost of the new theatre will be approximately $500,000.

J. Walter Bantau, director of construction for National General Corporation, will supervise the building of the theatre.

The new theatre will be the fourth showplace operated by Fox West Coast Theatres in Nevada. Other theatres operated by the company include the Fox Theatre in the Charleston Plaza Shopping Center; the Nevada Drive-In Theatre on Salt Lake Highway, and the Crest Theatre in Reno.

of theatres in the nation today, fine motion picture theatres are operated by National General Corporation subsidiaries coast to coast in the United States and Canada.

Eugene V. Klein, president and chairman of the board of National General Corporation, has sparked one of the most ambitious expansion programs in motion picture history. His announced goal of 100 new theatres at a cost of $50,000,000 is fast becoming a reality with new theatres being built all over the country and in Canada.
