roups in the country, Mrs. Harman cited the fact that "in 1966, there were 460 synagogues in the Soviet Union and today there are only 68." She also took note of the refusal to permit publication of Jewish prayerbooks the closing down of the professional Jewish theatre, the withholding of facilities for the training of rabbis and other Jewish spiritual leaders and the refusal to permit production of Jewish religious objects, such as prayer shawls, mezuzoth and related articles. In addition, she said, "there have been virulent direct attacks against the Jewish religion as such and vicious attempts to denigrate the nature of the Jewish God, such as are contained in an article that appeared in Pravda Ukrainly on September 6."

Israel Bond Campaign as "a potent instrument for the economic strengthening of Israel, which is dedicated to the principles of human brotherhood and enlightened fellowship among all nations and creeds."

"The people of Israel," they continued, "have proved that courage and a deep love of freedom can overcome great odds. The whole nation is imbued with a spirit of self-sacrifice and a pioneering fervor. The economic, social, educational and scientific advances being made have turned Israel into a show window of democracy."

"As Americans, we are proud to have shared in this development. Purchases by Americans of Israel Bonds have been particularly important in building economic self-reliance. Israel Bonds have provided the industrial and agricultural growth without which no nation can permanently secure its freedom."
