Temple Plans Israeli Trip

Definite plans have been made by a group of members of the Temple Beth Shalom to travel to Israel to celebrate that nation's 29th year of independence, Men's Club President David Canter announced.

It was unanimously decided by the group of about twenty people that a full three weeks would be spent in Israel starting April 22 until May 13.

Another meeting will be held Wednesday, November 29, at 8:00 p.m. at the Temple (Continued on Page 3)

NEW YORK (WNS) -- In Geneva, Ottawa, Washington and New York protests against the Soviet Government's treatment of its Jewish citizens were timed to coincide with the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Russian Revolution.

In Geneva, Dr. Nahum Goldmann, president of the World Jewish Congress, addressed a statement to the Soviet Government expressing "profound sorrow" that the promised "equality, citizenship, religious and cultural liberty for all nationalities," embodied in the 1917 revolution, has not been fulfilled for the Jews of Russia. He paid tribute to the Soviet Union for its "remarkable achievements in so many fields of human endeavor," but he said that the situation of Russian Jewry has deteriorated badly compared to what it was in the first decade after the revolution, "by reason of frustrations and restrictions of the free exercise and maintenance of their cultural, religious and communal life and institutions."

"In greeting the people of the Soviet Union," Dr. Goldmann said, "we address once again an earnest appeal to the Government of the USSR to fulfill the spirit and terms of the Soviet constitution by removing the disabilities and inequalities which now hamper the religious and cultural freedoms of Russian Jewry, and to accord them full facilities to pursue their communal way of life and to maintain contact with their fellow Jews abroad -- the same rights and facilities enjoyed by other national minorities in the Soviet Union."

In Ottawa, 600 young Jews from Montreal and Ottawa staged a demonstration in front of the Soviet Embassy in the Canadian capital protesting against "spiritual genocide" inflicted by the USSR against Soviet Jewry. The demonstrators danced in front of the Embassy and sang Hebrew songs, affirming that "the people of Israel live."

In New York a group of 60 students wearing chains gathered before the Soviet Mission during a celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Russian Revolution to demand that the Soviet Government "break the chains of oppression of Soviet Jewry." The students, draped in prayer shawls, sat on mourning benches in symbolic protest against the treatment of Jews in the USSR, chanted Hebrew songs and read recitations.

The demonstration was sponsored by the Student Struggle for Soviet Jewry and the Center for Russian Jewry which demanded the release of thousands of Jews confined to Soviet forced labor camps merely because they (Continued on Page 4)

BOY DID WE GOOF!

It is inevitable that when you set out to list a number of deserving persons for participation in a worthy event, invariably one or names are inadvertently omitted.

U.S. Representative Walter S. Baring not only attended the recent Bonds for Israel Dinner, he sat prominently on the dais and purchased a Bond. Rep. Baring has attended every important function of our Faith and has supported every measure in Washington sympathetic to Israel. He has proven in every instant he is a true and loyal friend of Judaism.

While we're on the subject, it should be pointed out that among the women's organizations that made the Is-
