Step right up and meet one of the sweetest and most considerate persons I have had the pleasure of knowing in a long, long time.

So, today's 'Profile' goes to none other than MELVIN GARB who is Executive Vice President of the McDonald Distributing Co. (the company now owns five McDonald's in Las Vegas). They first opened on October of last year and according to Mel, there is no stopping.

The McDonald Distributing Company now operate 20 McDonald hamburger establishments of the thousands throughout the country.

Melvin was born in Kenosha, Wisconsin 48 years ago and is single. He wants to stay that way. He likes girls but prefers staying a bachelor.

He likes beautiful surroundings so he has one at Diplomat Apartments.

He is a six footer and

weighs 250 pounds ("for the past 10 years I lose an average of 100 pounds per year but I gain back 110 pounds yearly.")

He has been in every state in America but loves Las Vegas the best.

He has a simple philosophy; "I borrow money with the same aplomb as I lend it.

I believe the happiness is my American birthright and I pursue it for all it's worth."

He maintains personal loyalties with friends. He has been known to become involved in business projects that might not interest him only because a friend is involved.

Garb works close with all the managers at his McDonald's. In fact he knows exactly how many hamburgers are sold in each place daily.

He hasn't a hobby. ("Actually, I guess I collect people I'm fascinated with them all. I've never met two people exactly alike.")

He is an eligible bachelor, a most eligible bachelor. ("I have been getting marriage proposals for many years. I'm not opposed to marriage, but....well it hasn't happened yet.")

Mel likes to watch prize fights, wrestling matches, football and basketball games; his favorite, however, is handball. He spent two years in the service. He is genial and friendly. ("I have my brooding hours with that grin off my face.") He has a strong face that can switch from an engaging smile to sinister menace.

He calls almost every female "sweetie." ("It's easier than remembering names...and they like it.")

He doesn't consider himself gregarious, but he is. He can keep a booth of people occupied and interested in what he has to say.

He never seeks out trouble. He is well liked by all those who get to know him.

He is a member of the Temple Bethillel of Kenosha,

The Elk's Club, American Jewish Community and the B'nai B'rith. (He soon will belong to our Temple Beth Shalom and local organizations.

As a youngster he played football, basketball and baseball. He also played a good game of handball. He attended the University of Wisconsin.

Garb has ideas and insists upon being heard.

He is extremely loyal. He has never knowingly betrayed a confidence. He expects everyone to be the same way.

He thinks peasant blouses belong on peasants.

Every afternoon he can be found at the Riviera Health Club (Riveria Hotel) and Mike Tulane is his favorite trainer and do-gooder.

His favorite football team of course is the Green Bay Packers. He is a friend of all team members.

He has a good appetite and enjoys eating. He particularly likes steak, and lemon pie. He watches his diet but doesn't do anything about it. He thinks of it whenever its time to eat.

He cares little about clothes. Mel says, they get bigger 'n bigger.

He is a credit to our community and in the one year he has been a resident he has made loads of friends.

He sleeps in a comfortable bed. ("The larger it is the more comfortable he finds it.") He sleeps in pajamas, jacket and trousers; or he sleeps in his shorts; or he sleeps in the raw.

He's my kind of guy. He'll be yours too, if you meet him, especially over a McDonald's hamburger.
