

SHOWCASE OF THE STARS

VILLA'S VEGAS

By Percy Villa

"Little Me" at Sahara

DONALD O'CONNOR, PAULA STEWART

You have four more weeks to see this highly successful Broadway production and smash musical comedy, "LITTLE ME", now on its second month at the SAHARA HOTEL.

Starring of course is multi-talented Donald O'Connor who never seems to run out of his many talents. The semi musical lasts a full 90-minute package includes every element of a successful from great music to top comedy.

Others in the all-star cast are beautiful Yvonne DeCarlo, William Lundigan and Paula Stewart, all show many talents during the show.

Master singer - showman - actor - comedian O'Connor plays seven different roles in the show and his portrayals are enjoyed at every performance.

I have been a follower of Yvonne DeCarlo for some time and her magic and beauty is legendary on stage, television and screen circles.

Lundigan's distinguished background is the envy of many in Hollywood and New York. His talents are diversified and he is one of the few actors capable of handling dramatic and comedy roles with equal success.

Pretty Miss Stewart is new to Las Vegas. She dazzled the New York critics with roles in "What Makes Sammy Run," "Wildcat," and "Three Penny Opera," now she's a hit in her first major role in "Little Me".

The show is the work of Neil Simon, who also authored "Odd Couple," "Barefoot in the Park," and "Sweet Charity," and the play is based on a book by Patrick Dennis, the genius of "Auntie Mame" and "Mame."

The Louis Basil Orchestra was at its usual best with such hits as "I've Got Your Number," "Real Live Girl," and "Other Side of the Tracks."

You'll like Donald O'Connor, in "Little Me." See it first chance you get.
