

TROP'S NEW TRAVEL PLAN

Three - ply pleasure has been incorporated in a new travel plan that for the first time includes specific hotels in a package embracing Southern California, San Francisco and Las Vegas. Marketed as the tri-city package, the unique combination blends into the triple play the Grand Hotel, Anaheim, Sheraton Palace, San Francisco and Hotel Tropicana, Las Vegas.

Initial promotion and marketing of the tri-city innovation has been limited to Mexico, where a reservation office has been set up in Mexico City and where airlines and travel agents have welcomed the convenient plan.

Future exploitation of the package, developed by John McKennon, general manager of the Grand, and R. O. Cannon, executive vice-president of the Tropicana, include similar promotions in several other foreign countries and within the United States.

Spanning nine nights and 10 days, the package sandwiches a midweek stay in Las Vegas between an extended weekend in Anaheim and a conventional weekend in the bay city.

In Anaheim, the Grand hotel portion includes room for four nights, dinner and cocktails, ground transfers, tours of movie and television studios, Knott's Berry Farm, Movieland, Wax Museum, Palace of Living Arts, Marineland and, of course, Disneyland.

At Hotel Tropicana, guests will enjoy room for three nights, the Folies Bergere with cocktails, Blue Room show with cocktails and a cocktail in La Fontaine Lounge.

The Sheraton Palace windup includes room for two nights, Garden Court buffet dinner with cocktail and deluxe city tour.
