

OF THE STARS ★

a few minutes ago on the radio. It sounded like labor pains with a beat.

Overheard: It's so much tougher to get rich in a small town -- because everybody's looking.

Sandwich favorite: Try a slice of raw onion with a grilled cheese sandwich, it's extra good. (Eddie Gamarana).

I wonder why Dept.: Why do people say, "Not to change to subject but/" and then do it?

How can this be topped? Every hotel claims that they have broken all-time records for New Years Eve. Can you visualize what will happen (by next New Year's) when the Bonanza, Landmark and the International Hotels are in full blast?

It's been nearly 10 years since the passing of Mario

Lanza, but his recordings are still selling like hot cakes (my all time favorite).

Can you believe this? This town of our's was filled to capacity last Sunday and Monday waiting for New Years Eve (Tuesday nite) to come.

Do you remember when a handshake was the equivalent to a business deal and a contract?
