U. S. PIPELINE
 even though the companies are Western owned and operated.

It took Israeli firefighters using eight trucks plus assistance from local military units 14 hours to control the fire in the 30-inch pipeline which transport oil from Dhahran on the Persian Gulf to Sidon, a Lebanese port. The line is owned by the Arabian-American Oil Co. (Aramco) and carries 23 million to of crude oil annually. Oil from Saudi Arabian field has been flowing over the 1,000-mile long line uninterrupted by the Six-Day War and Israel's takeover of Syrian territory.

Oil poured through the damaged line for two hours after Arab Guerrillas blew up a section near the abandoned village of Mitrhr Chebaa on the Heights. The flow was stopped by turning taps in other parts of the Heights.

The Arab force was believed to have escaped to Mount Hermon which strides the Israeli Lebanese border and is the reported training and staging center for Syrian-backed guerrillas who have attacked Israeli settlements on the Heights and Lebanese units within the Arab nations.

(Lebanese attempts to control these Arab guerrillas resulted in the fall of one government and no new government has yet been formed. There was some speculation that Israeli forces may strike against the guerrillas on Mount Hermon but observers noted such action would only enable the Arab terrorists to contend that Israel and Lebanon were working together, a charge that would only create more difficulties for the moderate forces in the Arab state.)

In other military activity in the Golan Heights areas, an Israeli jet shot down one Syrian MIG 21 while a second Arab craft fled. The Syrian pilot was seen parachuting into Arab territory. No Israeli craft were lost in the brief air battle.

AROUSE JUDAISM

LOS ANGELES (WNS) -- The anti-Semitic, anti-Israel and anti-Zionist campaigns conducted by the Soviet Union within Russia has had the effect of awakening an interest in Judaism and Israel on the part of Russian Jewish youth and thereby halting their almost total assimilation, according to a leading Orthodox rabbi.

Rabbi David Hollander of the Bronx, a past president of the Rabbinical Council of America (Orthodox), who spoke at the 1st annual dinner of Young Israel of Los Angeles could offer no reasons for this but declared that the "miracle as far as Soviet Russia is concerned is that after 50 years of persecution and pressure on its Jewish citizens, the anti-Semites have not killed the spirit of Judaism."
