Long time resident Lewis Joseph Abrahams has passed away. He was a veteran of the British World War No. 1 ans was born in England. Surviving are his wife Katherine (Katy), a son Joseph and three grandchildren all of LAS Vegas, a brother Jack Allen and six sisters in London. Lewis was one who could never say "no" he worked on all committees and was much loved by everyone who knew him. Rest in peace "Abe".

hubby Joe Raff, they reside in Majorca, Spain.

Hy Indes owns a percent of the Caesars Palace Hotel and now can be referred to as an "owner". Good luck and good health.

Caesars Palace Hotel feature legitimate theatre (not in the main show room) with the showing of "Boys In the Band". I viewed this show and found it entertaining, interesting and wholly aware of the life, language, etc of today's way of living. The theme of this show is nothing new but it is being exploited to the degree that, there just aren't secrets anymore. I for one, am thrilled to have legitimate theatre try for a come back in Las Vegas. Some 20 years ago, in the Village of the Old Frontier Hotel where there was a small theatre, a group tried and did show legitimate plays, I remember seeing Arthur Treacher in a popular play that was having a run on Broadway, but to no avail, the residents just weren't interested. So to Dave Victorson, entertainment Director of the Caesars Palace, and his magic touch, here is hoping his endeavor is a huge success with many more stage presentations to follow.

So what if you are not invited to this or that affair? Why make such a tsimmis? Sometimes it is an oversight, and in many cases the guest list is usually limited. I often wonder why some are invited to certain affairs and others are not, but shouldn't that be left to the host and hostess? No one should feel badly if they are omitted. This reminds me of vieing for an invitation to the White House or Hollywood premier. Maybe you should offer your services that is sure to get you an invitation.

Sisterhood presented a luncheon in Dome of the Sea restaurant of the Dunes Hotel. Dolores Goldstein (brought in more new members than anyone else) and Estelle Levine did a sensational job, and the afternoon proved it, as it was so successful, 18 guests from all over the U.S. attended and 22 new members were signed up. Claire Dase, president welcomed everyone. Estelle Levine, Betty Allison, Sally Snider, Elizabeth Kanter, Charleen Rubin and Phyllis Rosenberg were the models (Hawaiian fashions from Kimos Polynesian shop in the mall) who did justice to the outfits shown. Each attendee was presented with a gift from Kimos along with a discount gift certificate should you purchase anything from the shop. There were many door prizes and some of the lucky gals were, Emily Wanderer, Joline Karp, Lill Phillips and Lill Kronberg.

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- Moshe Kol, Minister of Tourism and Development, invited the 15 Security Council members who voted unanimously to censure Israel for its activities in Jerusalem to come there and see for themselves how a united city works in an atmosphere of accelerated development. Also, he asked them to see the results of destruction and vandalism in Jerusalem's old city and in the Jewish cemetery on the Mount of Olives carried out in Jordan's nineteen years of occupation.
