Bob (formally Bobby) Darin's one nighter at the Bonanza showcased his new image -- and it wasn't Mac the Knife. Donning blue jeans and a mustache, Bob's entire show (which was taped for an album) was the New Darin -- hard rock, psychedelic and "aware". Of course, many of his ("18 Yellow Roses") fans disapprove, but capacity at the opera house proved there's a new generation of cabaret crowds.

During the show a loud bussing stopped the act. The New Darin, who just announced a $238,000 suit against Jackie Gleason for breaking a promise as to which songs Darin could sing on tv, ad libbed beautifully for 15 minutes. When an armed security guard jumped the stage to check the wings for the source of the irritating buzzing, Darin quipped: "If he can't Phil Harris, world-famous for what he likes about the South, headlines a one week engagement at the Landmark Theatre starting tonight with Harry James, trumpet sensation of the big band era. The Unusual We, a group which has scored impressively in Las Vegas dates, will also appear.

Harris and James are a perfect entertainment pairing. Each has enjoyed career success in the music business and the recording field, and each has acted in motion pictures. Harris' scat singing has sold millions of records, and James' trumpet artistry brought renown to the Benny Goodman band and, later, his own orchestra.

The Unusual We, a smash hit during their two week Landmark date with Bob Newhart, combine their vocal and dance talents on contemporary music. The group, five girls and five boys, achieve a perfection that tickets them for show business heights.

The Landmark Theatre presents an 8:15 p.m. dinner show and a 12 midnight cocktail show.

In the Landmark's 29 story high Nighthawk Lounge, the new musical comedy featuring the Tower Sweets Revue is on stage twice nightly, alternating with singer Ray Malus and his group.
