This reporter was able to squeeze in three funny fellows the other night. We enjoyed every bit of it. We saw Greene at the Riviera, Gilbert at the Sands and Jack E. Leonard at the Frontier. Our impression is that Jack

E. was the best, however we must admit that our guests who wanted to see come (the Ambergers from Los Angeles) loved Paul Gilbert's act. His crazy surgeon's act broke them up. Well to each his own.

Rabbi Norman Puker from Los Angeles loves Las Vegas but he says "its not fair my luck is very steady, I always lose." I told him "Rabbi don't tell me your troubles. Just bring a Strictly Kosher Restaurant to Vegas and you can't lose". My friends and I are willing to invest in advance if you will move her and personally supervise this operation.

Follies Bergere revisited. At the instigation of Al Klass the Editor of the Brooklyn Daily (in New York). We enjoyed this wonderful extravaganza again. We must repeat Al Klass' comment. "It's better tan the Parisienne copy". I agree.

We're happy that Burt and Julie Mold finally decided to come back from Italy. Burt is my favorite Gin sucker and I have missed beating him. It seems that their trip was more than pleasureable because he started a big business venture while there. I don't know how he did it, the only Italian word he knew was Lasagna. Irene Azbyll who shlepped along for the fun, brought back a load of quaint Italian expressions, I can't print them because she is so innocent she doesn't know what they mean.

Julie London in the Tropicana Blue Room is one of the few singers who keeps me in my chair when she puts out a song. Her "Cry me a River" and the other wonderful songs that she sings in her inimitable style kept us, and a crowded Blue Room, glued to our seats. See London in Vegas and save the air fare.

Whenever they ask my Miriam "Did you ever catch your husband Flirting?" she says "Certainly, thats the way I caught him".

Rouvan at the Dunes has to be something special. Our New York friends Dianne and Dan Horwitz insisted we hear him again. Dianne claims he is another Lanza or Caruso. He has a magnificent voice and the beautiful show that surrounds him is hard to beat. Nick George in the 21 pit is a credit to our community. Dan and the other guys in the New York group claim he is the most pleasant and obliging man they have met here. They will all be back next month and promise to visit with Nick first, because he is a wonderful ambassador for the Dunes and Las Vegas. Thanks for smiling, Nick.

Ingrid, the wife of TAL the Bootmaker in the Somerset Shopping Center, gets mad as anything when TAL introduces her to friends as his roommate. They are a great couple.

We always have a problem suggesting where to go for good Italian food. We can only give you the three places we enjoy the most. They are Bombara's if you like good opera and good Garlic flavor, Tower of Pizza if you like Steak Pizzialo and ice cold draft beer and La Scala for excellent Italian sauce. Try all three because I can't make up my mind which is best.

We are proud of the nice people in our town. Every time I ask for charity help Joe Delaney sticks his neck out as does Nick Kelly and Bobby Bernet. The only reason I mention so few, is because whenever I have a problem I find that I don't have to make the other calls to nice guys who would be happy to co-operate. The other guys who have helped me and other people in the past are Victor Silvagni, Irwin
