

Hanukkah in Israel... let it light up your life

For more than 2000 years, Jewish people have been celebrating Hanukkah. Lighting tiny candles to symbolize the awesome triumph of right over injustice... Celebrating the miracle of a people's unflickering faith in human dignity and human rights.

For more than 2000 years, Hanukkah has been a joyful and magical experience... A time of wonder, of sharing, of gift-giving... A time of giving thanks for the courage of man.

Hanukkah glows in Israel... allowing visitors to participate in special ceremonies which will be held on Mount Zion in Jerusalem at 5:00 P.M. on December 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11.

Visitors will listen to Hanukkah songs presented by a children's choir... receive certificates of participation... and personally light candles at this joyous ceremony.

This year, Jewish people from many lands will light their menorot in Israel, where Hanukkah is more than a celebration... it is part of the way of life.
