news conference at which Dr. Prinz renewed the American Jewish Congress' protest against what it termed "the scandalous anti-Semitism of the play" and called upon Cardinal Doepfner to press for revision. In another response to the Congress protest, issued through his secretary, the Cardinal said he stopped revision of the text and favored the version prepared by Father Schaller.

"We are gratified that Cardinal Doepfner has affirmed his support of our protest," Dr. Prinz said today.

"We cannot, however, be so sanguine about assurances offered by Mayor

PILOTS FAVOR ARAB BOYCOTT

WASHINGTON (WNS) --- Capt. Charles H. Ruby has told a press conference that his organization, the United States Air Line Pilot's Association favored a complete transportation boycott against nations such as Syria and Algeria which collaborate with aerial hijackers.

Capt. Ruby noted pilots took "an extremely dim

Zwink. "We know that careful revision prepared after long and serious study by Father Schaller was rejected out of hand by Mayor Zwink and his associates," Dr. Prinz continued, adding: "With this record, a measure of circumspection is in order."

The American Jewish Congress spokesman said evaluation of the revision would have to await receipt of a copy of the text from Germany.

"If the text the Oberammergau villagers intend to use truly eliminates the anti-Semitism of the play, we shall be pleased to welcome it," he noted. "If it does not, then our original objections stand."

view" of an American airline selling tickets to Damascus while Syria freed the hijackers of a TWA jet but continued to hold two Israeli passengers.

Civil aviation "should not be used for political purposes," he said and urged a world-wide approach to the hijackers problem. This was important, he explained, because newer jets carry more passengers and a disaster could claim many lives if the international community did not take action.

Capt. Ruby said that an international airline pilots' decision to boycott Syria was in the making and it might last longer than 24 hours and involve surface and air traffic. He said the Mideast was different from Cuba because Havana had promptly returned hijacked planes and their passengers.

Airlines favor compulsory extradition as a measure to deal with hijackers, he said, with sanctions and boycotts used against nations that are unwilling to release passengers or extradite hijackers. He called for Italy to extradite the American marine who hijacked a TWA jet to Rome.
