Ladies want to do something for the White House? Use your noodle and send Nixon strudel.

Israel television producers may soon present a new show titled, "The Ghost and Mrs. Meir."

Fry my pork chops if a nice Jewish boy named Ben Shapiro isn't the producer of the film titled, "Futz." This is the story of a farmer's unkosher love for something even more unkosher: a pig. However, to balance the ceremonial law scale, Tom O'Horgan directed.

When Anne and Kirk Douglas honored the Soviet Cosmonauts at a recent Los Angeles party, Kirk missed a timely opportunity to make a deal with the Russkies to fly 3,000,000 Soviet Jews to Israel.

If Paul Newman actually runs for the presidency and winds up a winner, he'll become our first half-Jewish President. Well, that's better than nothing. I've always said that a step brother is a step in the right direction.

Alexander Hachoen, an Israeli, has grabbed the spotlight from Italian producers by becoming Italy's newest filmmaking sensation. Before 1969 fades out, Hachoen will have eight pictures in the can. As a result of the Israeli producer's success, Italy and Israel may sign a coproduction pact but the partnership won't materialize easily. Italy is a certainty to insist on some form of guarantee that Arab nations won't retaliate against Italy.

The hit stage play, "The Boys in the Band," will be released soon as a movie. As a result, I'm writing a song titled, "If You've Been Getting Letters from Germany, What Do You Hear from the Boys in the Band?"

We're sad to learn of the passing of Larry E. Levin, 57, drama instructor. In the performing world, Levin last appeared in nightclubs. However, he began his career in Chicago's Yiddish theatre.

What prominent Hollywood personality accepts many honors from Jewish organizations whose members innocently believe he is Jewish? He is even listed as Honorary President of a distinguished Jewish charitable foundation. Intentionally or otherwise the actor hasn't told the latter organization that many years ago he turned to Christian Science.

At that time, the performer decided that Christian Science could provide the answers to his problems that Judaism had failed to solve. It was the other way around for Sammy Davis, Jr., and Jan Sterling, who abandoned Christianity for Judaism. Each said the same, practically verbatim:

"I have been searching throughout a lifetime for a religion that would give me everything I need. I found it in Judaism."

I asked three rabbis, "When a Jew becomes a Christian Scientist, does he remain a Jew?" All three replied, "Nobody can become a disciple of Jesus Christ, yet remain a Jew at the same time."
