Can you imagine, today is Friday the 13th, today is also my birthday. How do you handle a situation like this? There should be dancing in the streets because of my birthday-but how can you take a chance? There are several black cats in the neighborhood-all my friends filled their salt shakers - my neighbors all left their ladders outside hoping we would walk under them. Well this reporter has made his decision. We're going to stay in bed all day, and hope for the best, tomorrow, St. Valentine's day, when everybody loves everybody, when the Rose De Lima ball takes place, where they are giving away a Cadillac and some guy that has a few of those wins another, when Peerless Paul Price is going to say nice things about everybody, when the Federal reserve bank reduces interest rates, when the department stores announce that they will discontinue charging the usurious rate of 18% on charge accounts, when the politicians will stop cutting ribbons at openings and start cutting taxes instead, when the taxes are raised on items imported into this country from places like Japan, Germany and other spots where our labor is competing against $1. per day labor. Well we got that jazz off my chest.

A don't miss stop is the Tropicana Blue Room where Peter Nero is in charge with his wonderful piano. The girls who crowd the Blue Room claim they don't go there only because he is handsome. We guys go there because his music is great.

If you're in the mood for way out fun catch "Latin Fire Follies" the music and dancing is entirely different from anything in our town. The Thunderbird has a real winner on their hands and we must admit their food is excellent.

Jeanie Linaro, when she helped close the Silver Slipper Burlesque show, was completely covered with a whipped cream pie in her kisser when she did her great disrobe act. Jeanie wants to know who swiped her wig?

Very good friend Jerry Radstone (Saints and Sinners Master) announces a Feb. 26th meeting at the Flamingo. Our next project is to tease and roast the culinary boys. Your Funk and Wag-nell says that culinary has to do with cooking. Lets find out. Does Al Bramlett know anything about boiling water? Does Mike Pisanello know anything about making a good Lukshen Pudding? (this means noodle pie). Sam David who has been inadvertently fooling with food for many years will be on hand, as will be Maury Roseman (Stardust Executive), also Jackie Lenorad (Flamingo Baccarat) who claims he has been eating for many years. This reporter cannot qualify as an expert because he is a light eater and my diet calls for only two light bulb per day. We were going to use Milt Frank (Stardust Executive) as a judge when we found out that he is a chicken man. We have to disqualify him because the room the Flamingo gives us for our meetings is too small for flying and when it comes to laying eggs - forget it, Victor Silvagni would be a good judge except he doesn't approve of sugar in the spaghetti sauce - this was contested some months ago by Zee Loui (Louisiana Club) who insists on sugar. Please come to our next meeting it's going to be fun and the surprise Jesters will make you sorry you came if you have a delicate stomach, especially if they let that crazy barber Nino mix into the activities. The "Skinniest" guy in the world, Tal the Bootmaker, promises to be there and tell you the story about the picture that I gave him.

The best shows in town, and this is an authentic as the Joy Hammas poll, are the Girlie shows at the Stardust, Dunes and the Tropicana. We made a personal poll asking the employees of the respective hotels which shows they preferred and believe it or not - they all picked the shows in their own hotel...We know this sounds like the poll that we took with the Republican Party when Dick Nixon was running for President.

Love the remark that favorite CPA Irving Haut makes. He says that "All statistics are not ture except when they talk about taxes, they are always on the up and up."

When Solomon Burke told me that his wife ran away with his best friend we exclaimed that his best freind must have been good looking, Solomen said "can't say, I never met the guy, but he is my best friend now".

The March of Dimes dinner at the Hacienda on Friday, February 27th should be a lot of fun. Link Kramer called to make sure we will attend and wonderful saleswomen that she is we decided to have our Master Furrier Ship donate a Natural Mink Boa to some lucky person who is nice enough to attend this wonderful charity affair. We wish that sometimes when the hotels in town decide to run a promotion and actually want to give away furs or other valuable items that they give some local merchant a chance. One hotel that shall remain unmentioned advertised $1000 mink stoles as a giveaway. We sent our Frank Robb down to investigate and he reported we sell them to anyone that walks through our front door for $299, even offer to exchange them if the winner is unhappy because of size or color. We are sorry that we picked on some hotels
