swimming pool by Pollard Pools is installed. This has to be a Mishigas because the best exercise is still shaking your head slowly from right to left or visa versa when they pass the potatoes and the dessert at the dinner table.

Hank Kovell sends this puff sheet to us and we must say that the Frontier Flack man does a masterful job of writing. Of course the information we elicit seems extremely unimportant especially when we find out that tennis pro Gar Glenney has a lot of GUTS when he strings your tennis racket. We forgot to tell you to say hello to Jimmy Moore in the dice pit at the Frontier. He's a Wayne Newton fan and we agree that he is right - because Wayne got a standing ovation the night we were there.

Our favorite host Jasper is back at the Tower of Pizza after a needed vacation. He will be there to greet you every day for the new hot lunch.

Maury (Stardust) Roseman tells me that when he remonstrated with his Faye to control her expenditures which he claimed were needless, Faye said, "you bought a Fire Extinguisher two years ago and we have not used it one time yet."

Raul of Las Vegas, the super tailor in the Somerset Shopping Center tells of a customer, a witness in court asked by the judge if he ever appeared in a suit before. The smart Alec said "Yes your honor, it was a black Mohair."

Must admit that Dave Victorson is doing a very wonderful job and has Caesars Palace Circus Maximus all booked up with top performers starting with my favorite Milton Berle and very talented Phyllis McGuire. Ron Arnos was right in saying don't miss this wonderful show. We loved every mement. More important, the blase audience raved and hoped the show wouldn't stop. Nancy Wilson and Godfrey Cambridge which sounds like another good evening of fun and frolic, open March 30th. We'll be there. We hope you will also. Please make your reservations in advance at Caesars and if you have trouble getting in, ask Danny Stein in the gambling pit to help you or visit with Larry Snow or son Joel in Baccarat. They will make sure to lend a hand.

When we told Gibby Weiss that marriage prevents a lot of suicides wise guys Gibby (the Mannis fur man) said did you know that suicides prevent a lot of marriages? Me-thinks that we will turn to your son Stevie for good stories from now on.

How about my Miriam? When I told her I just had my life insured she said: "You rat, always thinking about yourself first."

When Irene asked her widowed girl friend, "How do you like your rice?" she said I'd like it thrown at me.

This is a typical Bob Ross (Pollard Pool) story.

When his friend complained to the waitress by saying "I won't eat this garbage, please call the manager," The waitress replied: "It's no use, he won't eat it either."

Were very gratified that we touted visiting furrier

Ira Kaminsky and his pretty Serena into spending a wonderful evening at the Tropicana Hotel to see the Folies Berger. P.S. They loved it.

Frank (Sahara Hotel) Portnoy claims its true that he asked an old maid how cum she never married and this lady said: "Oh, I've been asked many times." Frank questioned: "Who asked you?" Her reply was great. She said: "My father and mother".

Must "commend" President Nixon for hanging onto Pompadou's tail and denying help to ISRAEL. Must "commend" him also for hanging onto Hoover's tail and curing inflation by causing a recession. Must also commend him for making sure that no Republican can get elected this year. Gotta admit the Federal administration is the greatest Godsend the Democrats have had in a long time.

Pollution of the air we breathe has become an important item in the news media: Why not try something special just here in Clark County? For just one hour per day at noontime - nobody smoke a cigarette, nobody drive a car (police cars and ambulances excepted), every bit of manufacturing which produces pollution stop. Let's try it - if it works we might be able to extend it.

No more room, so keep the jokes and postcards coming. Incidentally Sol Finkelhor is not feeling well. This old friend is at Southern Nevada Memorial Hospital. Please send him a cheer up note. We miss his friendly smile.

More Kabaret Next Week

NANCY WILSON

Slender and beautiful Nancy Wilson, the lovely lady of song, and Godfrey Cambridge, comedy's high-powered dynamo, will make their debuts at Caesars Palace Monday, March 30, as co-headliners in the hotel's Circus Maximus theatre restaurant.

They will perform twice nightly (8:15 p.m. and midnight) for three weeks.

Intelligence is, indeed, a hallmark of the Nancy Wilson approach to a song. That plus an immense affection for the lyrics in fact, it has been observed that she performs a ballad like an actor.

Said one critic, "Nancy Wilson sings a familiar ballad and suddenly you hear the lyrics for the first time. She brings a rare intelligence as well as an extraordinary lyric feeling to everything she sings."

That is why, perhaps, her appeal is universal.

Actor, comedian, writer, photographer, master chef and sex symbol ("now that I'm 165 pounds thinner"), Cambridge is additionally a man greatly concerned with his fellow man. Like the "love" he so often speaks of, he is a many splendored thing.

Cambridge the performer is a mover and a high-powered dynamo with more moving parts than a go-go dancer.

Opening April 20 in the Circus Maximus and also making their Caesars Palace debut will be the famed Smothers Brothers.

JUNIOR'S GAME

"The Name's The Same" - junior's game.

And the juniors are a big hit at Caesars Palace so much so, that Stan Seiden's unique musical-comedy-variety show "The Name's The Same" will reopen Tuesday, March 24, in the hotel's Nero's Nook lounge

MICKIE FINN AT FREMONT

FRED AND MICKIE FINN

The Mickie Finn Show, which generated fan fever galore nationally via its exciting run on NBC-TV, at the Fremont Hotel's Fiesta Room.

Mickie Finn, a long blonde hair beauty and Fred Finn, famed for his flying fingers, are the stars of the show. It's an unusual and delightful combination of Gay 90's Roaring 20's and modern day musical comedy.

Featured are a rollicking fun-group of musicians who play everything from ragtime and Dixieland to sing-along and rouser-douser.

Fred at his turn-of-the-century nickelodeon piano and Mickie at the strings of her resounding banjo are surrounded by the Friends on banjo, drums, trumpet, trombone and tuba.

They create a sound that is for two additional weeks of twice-daily performances (2:30 and 4:30 p.m.)

The show closed its first Nero's Nook engagement Wednesday, March 18, and is being returned by popular demand.

Starring in the return old, new, different, devastatingly enjoyable and loaded with virtuosity. It's a fast-paced production with zip from beginning to end and it definitely turns the beautiful Fiesta Room into a happy-time party for all.

Along with Fred and Mickie and their group, a spectacular banjoleist billed as "The Flying Dutchman" is presented. Also a great barber shop quartet, the Finnigans, national barber shop quarter competition winners from Vancouver, Wash., who prove their vocal prowess and their fantastic harmonizing techniques.

Another added attraction to an already great show is the hilarious and talented comedienne-songstress, Alliene Flanery. Alliene is noted for her sharp wit, booming voice and vibrant personality.

engagement are Deana Martin, Mickey Rooney Jr and the Tsongs Maureen Reagan and Jackie Coogan Jr. with Teddy Lewis, Francesca Gabor Hilton, The Little Steps Greg Mulavey and special guest star Meredith MacRae
