AJC SPEAKS OUT

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- The National Jewish Welfare Board (JWB) asked the United States Government to carry out American policy with regard to Israel in accordance with the statement by President Nixon as a candidate for the presidency when he declared that Israel must be given "sufficient military power to deter attack" and that "as long as the threat of Arab attack remains direct and imminent, sufficient power means the balance must be tipped in Israel's favor."

In a resolution adopted at the closing session of its biennial national convention, JWB called upon the Government to provide Israel "with essential military and economic aid," to stand "firm against Soviet pressure," and to "use American influence not to draft the terms of a Middle East settlement but to bring both sides to the conference table."

ISRAELI TRAFFIC

TEL AVIV (WNS) -- Herman Kahn, an American military thinker and expert on nuclear war, chided Israel for reacting with shock to war casualties while casually accepting about the same number of deaths due to traffic accidents. Mr. Kahn made his remarks at a symposium on the year 2,000 at Tel Aviv University.

In his presentation he suggested that if Israeli power reached an "overwhelming" point the Arabs might turn their attention elsewhere and Arab-Israeli tensions would ease. The head of the Hudson Institute also asserted that if Israel wanted to hold its present cease-fire borders, "you will have an extra 50 to 100 deaths a year." He added that Israelis should realize that war casualties were "useful" deaths as against the lives lost in traffic accidents which he called waste.

Passover Marvel

(The following information was gathered from the Columbia Encyclopedia. The Story of Pesach published by a commercial matzoth company, and Tolstol.)

How much can be added to a story that has been commemorated and told in every Jewish family during the annual Seder? True, each year the ceremonial portion of the traditional party dwindles, while the menu for the feast keeps expanding in proportion to the new products that hit the market, labeled Kosher for Passover. The soup-to-nuts Seder now includes canned soups, frozen meats, all flavors of soda pop, many kinds of candy and after-dinner mints - all legitimately in keeping with Passover dietary laws, and stylish.

But the story persists, nevertheless.

It had its inception long before Moses, when Jacob's son Joseph, was sold into slavery by his brothers. Joe, with his Jewish "kup" interpreted a dream of the king Pharaoh which saved Egypt from starvation. All Joe did was store up grain during the years of plenty for food during the years of starvation.

Generations later, another Pharaoh, panicked by interpretation of a nightmare, ordered all Jewish male babies cast into the Nile. That's when Moses was set adrift in a waterproof basket and was rescued by the Pharaoh's daughter, to grow up in the palace.

Moses, who never forgot he was a Jew, belted an anti-Semite and had to go into hiding. He married the daughter of a Priest and became a sheep grazer.

One day near Mr. Sinai, a voice from a burning bush commanded Moses to set the children of Israel free. Moses tried to reason with Pharaoh but it was no use. Strong

A Happy Holiday

by Sidney Peilte

The Passover Festival is ushered in with perhaps more ritual observance than any other Jewish holiday, and yet, although there is a good deal of solemnity associated with the formal celebration of the holiday, it is a happy holiday. A special order of prayers and definite procedures are prescribed for the religious observance, commencing with the initiating ritual -- the Seder. There is, however, a noticeable air of gaiety and lightheartedness associated with Passover. Maybe the arrival of spring at about this time has something to do with it.

The underlying theme of the Passover celebration is the spiritual joy we are expected to experience because our forefathers way back then won their freedom from slavery through the intervention of God. We have been free men ever since and we are not going to be permitted to forget it.

DR. GOLDMANN

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- Israeli leaders are working hard to jead off a possible major crisis over the Cabinet's rejection of a proposal that would have had Dr. Nahum Goldmann, president of the World Jewish Congress, meet President Nasser of Egypt in Cairo as an unofficial representative of Israel.

The Cabinet explained in an official statement that while Israel favored a direct meeting with Egypt to discuss the Mideast crisis each side should choose its own representatives. In the
