American Jewry Message

(Following is the text of the Jewish New Year greeting to the American Jewish community from the four Jewish chaplains in Vietnam -- Sanford Dresin, Sheldon Lewis, Robert Krauss and Frederick Wenger. The message, which was sent to the Commission on Jewish Chaplaincy of the National Jewish Welfare Board (JWB), voices Judaism's ancient plea for peace and good will among the nations and people of the world and expresses thanks for religious and morale services provided to Jewish personnel in Vietnam by the American Jewish community through JWB. The Commission on Jewish Chaplaincy is made up of representatives of the three major rabbinic bodies: Central Conference of American Rabbis, (Reform), the Rabbinical Assembly (Conservative), and the Rabbinical Council of America (Orthodox).

SAIGON, VIETNAM -- The High Holy Days afford a time for all Jews to stop, take stock of themselves, and join their brethren in prayer for Divine direction during the coming year. We chaplains, together with all Jewish personnel here in Vietnam, greet you as we enter on the year 5731. Though the world has made but little progress in its quest for righteousness and peace, still we hope that God will bring us closer to that day "when nation shall not lift up sword against nation neither shall men learn war any more." Here in a war zone, we feel the need for this blessing as never before.

We want to thank the National Jewish Welfare Board, its Women's Organizations' Services, Jewish federations and welfare funds, the United Jewish Appeal of Greater New York, and the entire American Jewish community for that support which serves as a concrete symbol of your identification with us. Truly you teach us daily the truth of the old saying, "All Israel is responsible one for another."

We hope that next year all of us may be reunited with our families and loved ones. Until then, we ask your prayers as the sound of the shofar unites us in spirit, even as it unites all Jews around the world. L'shana Tovah Tikatevu. May you all be inscribed and sealed in the book of life for a year of health and happiness!

(Signed)
 SANFORD DRESIN, SHELDON LEWIS, ROBERT KRAUSS, FREDERICK WENGER.

WASHINGTON (WNS) -- The Israel Bond Organization has set up a campaign to sell a record $500 million in bonds during the next 16 months, with $ 150 million the goal for the end of 1970.
