

ISRAEL HAS OWN JET PLANES

TEL AVIV (WNS) — Israel has successfully test flown its own supersonic jet fighter according to the Paris newspaper France Soir, quoted without comment by Israeli newspapers.

Meanwhile Israel has denied reports that its ambassador to France has been instructed to accept $60 million in payment for the 50 Mirage fighters embargoed by the French government. This would be $10 million more than the $50 million Israel paid for the planes which were to have been delivered at the time the Six-Day War broke out.

Former French President Charles de Gaulle embargoed delivery of the jets before the start of fighting in an attempt to pressure Jerusalem from taking military action to break Egypt's blockade of Eilat and its massing of tanks in the Sinai.

The French report on the Israeli-made jet said it is similar to the French-made Super-Mirage 3-C but is powered by an American engine rather than a French one. The U.S. power plant is a G-79 similar to the General Electric 17 that powers the United States-made Phantom jets used by the Israeli Air Force.

The Israeli jet is faster than the Mirage having attained a speed of Mach 1 in sea-level flight.

Israel reportedly has extensive information about the Mirage, including plans to build the equipment needed to produce the plane. Much of this information reportedly was turned over to Israel by West German engineers who illegally obtained the plans while working in Switzerland.

Israel has been producing spare parts for its Mirage under terms of the original agreement covering the sale of the jets. One Israeli source said Israel produced the parts 40 percent cheaper than in France.

The French embargo gave a tremendous impetus to Israel's aircraft industry, the nation's largest single employer of workers. Spare parts are now produced for both military and civilian air planes and work is subcontracted because of the volume of orders.

NEW YORK -- Essays dealing with external and internal censorship of Hebrew books dating back to medieval times, the Jew in recent American drama, and Jewish books published by university presses are among the articles featured in Volume 28 of the Jewish Book Annual, published by the Jewish Book Council of the National Jewish Welfare Board.

NEW YORK -- The National Jewish Welfare Board's Commission on Jewish Chaplaincy has been officially advised by the Selective Service Commission that all draft boards have been asked to give "favorable consideration, whenever possible" to requests from Jewish registrants for postponement of their physical examination or induction into the Armed Forces during the coming Jewish High Holy Days.

NEW YORK -- While Jewish Community Centers in the United States are conducting a wide variety of programs to help solve urban problems, they could accomplish much more in this field if they overcame ambivalent attitudes among their trustees, staff workers, members and client groups, according to a 46 - page booklet published September 10 by the National Jewish Welfare Board and the American Jewish Committee.
