GROUND BREAKING UNLV COMPLEX

Groundbreaking ceremonies for a $3.2 million Teacher Education Complex were conducted Monday (Dec. 21) at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. On hand to help turn the first spade of dirt for the building were members of the state Board of Regents, University faculty and administration, and representatives of the architectural and contracting firms.

The complex, which will double the amount of classroom and office space on the entire UNLV campus, is expected to be completed in about 15 months.

Construction will be carried out by the J.A. Tiberti Co. of Las Vegas. Project architects are from the local firm of Jack Miller and Associates.

Dr. Roman J. Zorn, president of UNLV, said the addition of the 100,000 square-foot structure would not only solve problems of space shortages, but would allow the University to expand its curricular programs in several areas.

"The appearance of the entire campus is changing rapidly," Dr. Zorn commented, "in preparation for the growing numbers of students who will be seeking a higher education in the coming years."

Dr. Zorn said the groundbreaking signaled the start of the third major construction project at UNLV in the past four months. Currently being built are a seven-story Humanities Building and a Center for the Performing Arts.

Dean Anthony Saville of the College of Education said the complex would contain offices for 121 faculty members and teaching assistants, 35 standard classrooms, 29 conference, seminar and study rooms and 15 areas for testing.

DANCE BANDS AT CAESARS

Caesars Palace is reviving the great dance band era with special late, late shows in the hotel's Circus Maximus theatre-restaurant featuring not one, but two of America's musical giants -- Duke Ellington and Woody Herman.

Ellington and his orchestra and Herman and his "Thundering Herd" will each present one show nightly, beginning at 2:00 a. m.

This exciting format, another Las Vegas entertainment first for Caesars Palace, will feature dancing and listening to music at its greatest.

The Ellington - Herman engagement will continue for three weeks, through January 14, 1971. B. B. King will open January 15.

The Smothers Brothers Show, starring Tom and Dick Smothers, Leslie Uggams and also featuring the Edwin Hawkins Singers, continues twice-nightly performances in the Circus Maximus at 8:15 p.m. and midnight.
