Encyclopaedia Britannica's ever-growing family of subscribers includes people from every walk of life . . . representing almost every area of human activity.

"In the short time that we have had it, I have come to regard the Britannica Program as the 'be-all' and 'end-all' for authoritative research and background material."
Budd Arthur, Brooklyn Heights, New York

"In another year, we will have all three of our children in Junior High School. The Britannica Program will save many trips to the library, and give them more time to relax and study here at home."
Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Ruffner, Long Beach, California

"I am glad to add my voice to those of all others who have found the Britannica to be the most valuable set of references ever compiled. The Modern Poetry article, in its skilful shaping and balanced estimates, is a model of concision, a truly encyclopedic summary."
Louis Untermeyer

"Accept my heartiest congratulations and sincerest recommendations for this milestone on the scholastic road of academic research."
Rabbi Sidney Z. Lieberman, Brooklyn, New York
