

DEBATE NO SOLUTION TO MIDEAST

UNITED NATIONS prefer not to debate (WNS)-- Sources close the Mideast question at this session of the UN Nations Mission re-vealed that Israel would such a debate would inflame the relatively calm diplomatic situation that now exists and that the solution to the Middle East problem cannot be found in public debate.

The sources also said that Israel would try to prevent any changes in the text or interpretation of Security Council Resolution 242. At the same time it was revealed that Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban would address the morning session of the General Assembly on Sept. 30 and offer several options for a peaceful settlement of the Middle East crisis.

Earlier, Israel had criticized Secretary General U Thant for repeating in his annual address to the General Assembly, that an Israeli withdrawal to pre-war borders was a "minimum condition" for reactivating the Gunnar V. Jarring mission. Thant added that if Israel refused to accept that condition, steps must be taken by the Security Council and its members "with influence on the parties concerned," Israel said it was willing to resume peace negotiations without any prior conditions.

Meanwhile, Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad told reporters as he prepared to leave Cairo for the General Assembly that it was Egypt's objective to isolate Israel and "embarrass" the U.S. for her support of Israel. At a stop-over in Paris, Riad met with French Foreign Office officials.

Would you like Tomorrow's car. today?

We wish we could bring it to you. It may even be powered by electricity! We also wish we could bring you tomorrow's power plant today... silent, invisible, and pollution free. That's our problem. We at Nevada Power Co. must be concerned about the future, and it takes years, from the beginning of design to completion, to get a new power plant "on the line." We desperately need tomorrow's technology... today. But we sincerely believe that a nation that can take a man to the moon and back can solve these problems, and we're working on them, because...

We live here, too!
