TELLING IT LIKE IT IS

Don Tell

Golden Steer offers broiled spring chicken, brochette of beef, top sirloin, short and long horn steak, filet mignon, lobster and filet mignon combination. Australian lobster tail and chateaubriand for two.

Since this assortment would suffice for the King of Siam we must in a bragging way state that this only covers about half the menu at the Golden Steer.

The other half covers Italian dinners, the taste of which, could make a convert out of anyone. Their family style portions cover veal scallopini, meat balls, veal parmigiana and chicken cacciatora. These are complete meals from soup to coffee at $6.95 per person.

Their complete menu of Italian dinners include Italian sausages, chicken cacciatora or chicken saute sicilian, chicken caruso, veal scallopini risotto, baked eggplant neopolitan and about six other emotionally enjoying Italian setups.

If you think that Mr. Joe Kludjian has forgotten the gourmet you are sadly mistaken. With just a day or two advance order, Joe can fix up the gourmet with pheasant, bob white quail, chukkars, guinea hen, whole goose, whole lamb, leg of lamb or suckling pig. He has facilities for parties up to 50 just by calling 384-4470.

The Golden Steer is also famous for an after dinner drink, the snappy Sombbrero or commonly known as coffee flavored brandy. Open from 5 p.m. to 12 p.m. (seven days a week), the Golden Steer restaurant is a tribute to a wonderful guy, Joe Kludjian, who can make you feel as important as any V.I.P. guest when eating at his establishment.

Try the Golden Steer and you'll see we didn't steer you down the wrong fork in the steak.....

Around Town... This week's gambling story comes from the very delightful Al Belson, owner of Strip Dealer's School above Foxies. It seems that this filthy rich Texan comes ambling up to the crap tables with two gorgeous babes and money flowing out of every pocket. The bosses all know him and call him Mr. M. Well Mr. M. yells out a call bet of $3,200 across, $500 on the line, $500 coming, $100 on the eleven and $100 each on the hardways. As the dealers scurry to it and the dice are flying, Mr. M. grabs his chest in great pain and starts sinking slowly to the floor. The crap stick man bends over to offer assistance just as Mr. M. mutters the very last words of his life. Since no one else was in earshot, everyone at the table shouted to the stickman at once. "What did he say?" The fast-thinking stickman said, "His last request was that the money plays for the boys!".....

350 ACTORS PORTRAYED "TEVYE"

An estimated 350 actors have so far portrayed "Tevye," central figure in the long-run musical "Fiddler on the Roof," currently being presented at the Union Plaza. But then, "Fiddler" has only been with us a scant seven-years-plus.

"I am convinced that within a decade 'Fiddler' will still be playing around the world," Bob Carroll, the seventh actor to play "Tevye" states. "And by that time, I figure about 5,000 actors will have done my role."

Carroll, the genial baritone, does not think the ill-fated Prince of Denmark will ever be eclipsed by the poor dairyman of Anatevka in Czarist Russia. "But I do believe he will eventually become the most popular stage figure in musical comedy and drama."

Carroll added "There are many plays that are universal in popularity, but few musicals. Because of the universality of 'Fiddler' it is seen throughout the world, by people who normally would not respond well to an American musical."

Carroll maintains that the character of "Tevye" has "problems that are not related to any specific country. He is 'the little man' of the world, just as Charlie Chaplain's tramp was."

"Everyone identifies with 'Tevye'."

Henny Youngman, king of the One-liners, who is doing 30 more spots for Rowan and Martin's "Laugh In," goes to London Nov. 16 for a month. Then he does four TV shows. Busy, busy, Henny, Henny.
