

GOLDA MEIR SAYS U.S. WILL ASSURE ISREAL'S SECURITY

WASHINGTON (WNS) --In a nationwide television appearance on the NBC "Meet The Press" program, Israel's Premier Golda Meir said Israel was willing to return to the Jarring talks "immediately" but "without pre-conditions." Israel was satisfied that the U.S. will assure Israel's security, and that Israel had never said that the cease-fire lines were to be considered final borders.

In response to sharp questioning by four newsmen, Mrs. Meir said, "We don't commit ourselves to anything without negotiations." She rejected a suggestion by syndicated columnist Rowland Evans that resumption of American deliveries of Phantom jets to Israel would mean that the U.S. was underwriting Israel's occupation of the Sinai. Suggesting that "maybe you should speak to your President," she commented that Pres. Nixon had "over and over again" said that the military balance in the Middle East should not be upset.

In other comments, she noted that Egypt had attacked Israel "in 1967, in 1969 during the war of attrition and during the cease-fire." She expressed doubt that Egypt would resume the fighting in early 1972 despite Egyptian Pres. Anwar Sadat's remarks that "1971 was the year of decision" stating that in a recent television appearance Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad did not seem prepared to "say what Sadat said." She continued that "Sadat knows as well as we do that he cannot win (a new war) and we are not anxious to win again.

Earlier in the week,

Mrs. Meir met separately with Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, (D., Minn.), Edmund Muskie (D., Me.) and Henry M. Jackson (D., Wash.).
