A CHARTER FLIGHT FOR YOU

The following are the various types of charter flights the C.A.B. allows and some of the basic rules concerning who may participate.

AFFINITY GROUP CHARTERS

Available to eligible members of a club. The club must be over two years old, and the members of it must have been members for over six months. Most social, service, civic, ethnic and professional organizations qualify. The member's immediate family is also eligible.

SINGLE ENTITY CHARTERS

In this case, the charterer pays the total cost of the flight and offers the flight swithout charge to the passengers of his choice. These have become increasingly popular with corporations which provide flights to their sales incentive personnel.

No minimum time period necessary.

INCLUSIVE TOUR CHARTERS

A land trip is attached to the charter which must be for a week or longer and have three stops which are at least 50 miles apart. Hotels, bus sightseeing, and other items are priced into the total padded price, as the operator obtains the charter flight, then obtains the ground net cost, and odds a profit for himself, and a commission profit to travel agents who sell this as a package. Inclusive tour charters allow any member of the general public to take advantage of a package total that is still less than excursion fares with similar tours attached.

If you desire to board a charter flight, YOU MUST QUALIFY INTO ONE OF THE ABOVE TITLES. If you desire to do your own thing once at your destination, perhaps, you should join a club that has members in it that desire to fly charters, this not being the main reason for joining such a club, however.
