ROGER WILLIAMS HELD OVER IN TROP BLUE ROOM

Roger Williams, whose pianistic artistry has made him the best selling instrumental recording artist in history, has been signed for an unprecedented three week hold-over engagement at the famed Blue Room of the Tropicana Hotel and Country Club.

Williams, who has been performing to standing room only audiences nightly since his opening on February 25, is the first star in the long history of the Blue Room to be held-over by popular demand.

The soft-spoken musician first became famous with his recording of "Autumn Leaves" in the 1950's. He later recorded such hits as "Born Free," "Summer of '42," "Somewhere My Love," and many other of the nation's most popular tunes.

He will perform on a regular two show per
