

LETTERS

Dear Jack,

Just a line about Senator Bible.

Recently, as chairman of the "To Russia With Love" cablegram to Leonid I. Brezhnev, I received a long distance call from Washington D.C. from Jim Carpenter of the Senator's office, advising me that Senator Bible wanted his name on the cablegram aiding the Soviet Jews.

It was with a feeling of honor and pleasure that Senator Bible's name was put at the head of the list.

Senator Bible is tops as is Senator Cannon.

We in Nevada are brilliantly represented in the United States Senate.

Respectfully

Kay

(Mrs. Harry Wallerstein)

Dear Mr. Tell:

I wish to thank you for continuing to send me the Las Vegas Israelite under the sponsorship of the Hughes Hotels. Please indicate to my host my sincere appreciation for their making your interesting publication available to me, and thus, to my Congregation.

Be assured that if I should have the opportunity to be in Las Vegas that I will stop by to thank you for your wonderful work in bringing to the American Jewish community information concerning Las Vegas and what it has to offer as a vacation spot and tourist attraction.

Wishing you a good summer and may you and your family be blessed with a happy new year 5733, I am.

Cordially yours,
Rabbi Joseph dm. Reich

I was pleased to learn, Gentlemen, that the Hughes Tool Company is sponsoring my subscription to the Las Vegas Israelite. I appreciate your consideration for I find Jack Tell's Newspaper very informative. I look forward to receiving it every week.

Who knows I may be visiting Las Vegas one of these days.

With every good wish, I am,

Sincerely,

Tzvi H. Porath

Rabbi

(Chevy Chase, Maryland)

Dear Editor:

Thank you for your letter with enclosed communication of the Hughes Tool Co. of June 14, 1972.

We will take advantage of your offer by announcing it in our forthcoming newsletter to the membership and refer it also to our planning committee for a possible group arrangement.

I am looking forward to the opportunity to meet you in person during my next visit to Las Vegas.

Sincerely,

Benjamin Grey

Publicity Chairman

(Cong. of Amer. Jews from Poland,
Los Angeles,)

Dear Mr. Tell:

I am writing you about the one point that bothers me about your fine, Jewish-American newspaper; that is the editorial policy seems to be written by Robert E. Segal, whose column appears weekly.

I think it behooves a paper such as yours to have a more moderate or balanced approach to the problems confronting us as Americans and taking into consideration our Jewishness and special interest in Israel.

Mr. Segal's views are a re-hash of the same stereotype found in any of the more liberal, possibly even more radical publications. There is nothing original presented and nothing constructive offered. Therefore the column should either be replaced or supplemented with another that takes a different stance and comes to other possible conclusions, regarding the issues involved for the concerned American Jew.

Respectfully,

Dr. Alfred Bernkrant

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- Labor Minister Yosef Almogi, speaking at a Welfare and Work Institute meeting, jointly sponsored by the Hebrew University and the National Insurance Institute, called for research into the possibility of establishing a five-day work week in Israel.

TEL AVIV (WNS) -- Five Syrian intelligence officers including a brigadier general, two colonels and two lieutenant colonels, and a captain attached to Lebanese intelligence were captured by Israeli forces raiding "Fatahland," the terrorist stronghold in Southern Lebanon.

ROME (WNS) -- Chief Rabbi Elio Toaff of Rome received an anonymous letter warning him to "return immediately to your filthy fatherland (presumably Israel) because tomorrow may be too late." Rabbi Toaff was born in Italy.

NEW YORK -- Programs to strengthen the Jewish identity of Jewish students at New York's community colleges were proposed by 50 students, faculty members and representatives of Jewish organizations at a consultation organized by the American Jewish Committee.

WASHINGTON -- A gift of $1,000 initiated a B'nai B'rith emergency drive to aid victims of the flood disaster in Rabidd City, S.D.

NEW YORK -- Leaders of the automotive industry paid tribute to Semon E. Knudsen, Chairman of the Board, White Motor Corp., for his work on behalf of improved human relations at a dinner sponsored by the American Jewish Committee.

Dear Jack,

This will acknowledge and thank you for your recent letter, received by me June 23.

As you know, I do receive the Las Vegas Israelite, and I am pleased to note your reminder.

Cordially,

ALAN BIBLE

(U.S. Senate)

Dear Bea and Jack,

Thank you very much for the excellent coverage of my candidacy for Assembly # 11 as I saw in the "Israelite."

Win or lose, I have a blessing to have wonderful friends like you.

Again, thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Joe Smith

Dear Sir

I am in prison, at London Correctional institution at London, Ohio I have no money to pay for an ad or for your newspaper that I would enjoy very much. So I hope you will print my ad whenever you have the space.

I am a very lonely man, and I am in prison I have been here for 9 1/2 years. I still have two to 4 years to do. Are there any lonely women out there that have deep and sincere feelings, and broad minded. I am 35 years old. 6 foot 1/2 inches tall black hair. With some gray. Brown eyes and weight 178 lbs. I don't like a phony. So if your not for real don't write. Age is no Barrier. I love to write. So I hope you do if you write to me.

Thank you for anything you do for me.

Dear Mr. Tell:

Thank you for your gracious letters of recent date and for the invitation to avail myself of the good services of the Las Vegas Israelite when I come to Las Vegas. My brother-in-law Dr. Jack Hirsch, lives in Las Vegas and when I visit there he usually takes very good care of us. However, it is good to know of your offer of friendship.

Again, thank you for your kindness in sending me the Las Vegas Israelite. Under separate cover I'm sending you a copy of a new paperback that may be of interest.

Most cordially,

Rabbi William B. Silverman

Dear Jack:

How are you, Bea, Don Mike and Jay? We miss you all very much.

Miriam and I are both O.K. and our business is getting along fine. (ED. NOTE: She runs "World of Beauty" salon in the New May Co., No. Hollywood. J.T.)

I have lots of free time on my hands and would love to do some reservations work for the Hughes Hotels, if they can use a guy who knows and meets thousands of people every month in L.A., Beverly Hills and the valley.

Miriam sends her love.

Your friend

Al Kirschner

(ED. NOTE: Nice to hear from you Al. Drop in to the main office of Hughes Tool Co. in LA Tell them you wrote a column for the Israelite when you lived in Las Vegas. I recommend you highly. J.T.)

RIGHT & WRONG : Two men hit on what they thought was an ingenious scheme to beat the craps table. One bet right, the other wrong. The front line bet was $5, the back line $10, hoping a point would be made. Then the odds were taken on the point, which was the difference to the bettors, if the point was hit. The flaw, of course, was if there was a natural (7 or 11) on the come out. The bettors would lose five dollars in the play. They would also lose $5 on the roll, if the twelve came up, which is a standoff, in the back line. If the other craps showed, it would be a $5 profit. It was interesting, but not a consistent enough winner.

DIMES TO THOUSANDS: Jim B., from the Bronx, came to Vegas determined to be a big winner. He took a job in a car wash. Each pay day he made straight for the 10 cents craps table at the Las Vegas Club (now minimum bet is a quarter). Jim was strictly a back line bettor, against the dice. On his fifth, perhaps sixth week, he got lucky. The dice were extremely cold for more than an hour. Jim's bets rose to $5, then $10 and into the hundreds, when the smoke cleared, he was $27,000 winner. He bought a car, two suits, and sent $10,000 home to his mother. Then he made the mistake of only $500 wagers. It didn't take long. Within days he had sent for the $10,000, sold his car and was lucky to wind up with the air fare home.

MR. SHOWBUSINESS: Liberace, who is in the $50,000-a-week class, perhaps more, gets his kicks playing the slot machines at the El Cortez, at 6 a.m. He was real pleasant to all who greeted him and when he left, he turned and said: "Eight o'clock, and all is well."

100 TO 1: Before the baseball season started in 1967 a man walked into Sammy Cohen's Santa Anita Race Book and plunked down $100 on the Boston Red Sox to win the American League pennant. The Sox had finished the '66 season in seventh place, 26 games behind the league-leading Baltimore Orioles. On the very last day of the regular season the Sox nipped the A. L. flag. Sammy wrote out the check for $10,000. It is framed for all to see at the popular Strip booking parlor.

WINNERS & LOSERS: The biggest losers, of course, had to be those with the money to lose. They are also, to be certain, among the biggest winners. However, there have been many big winners among persons, who started with very small bankrolls. The trick is to know when to quit. There are two, constant, hard-fast rules in order to wind up a winner. If you follow the rules, it does not mean you will win. But if you violate one you have to end up losing in the long run. The first rule is to know the game you are playing. Otherwise you have to be throwing your money away. The second rule is money management. You cannot accumulate, unless you speculate. Once you abide by these regulations, it then becomes a matter of luck.

When we interviewed Harold Smith Jr., who amassed $80,000,000 as owner of Harold's Club in Reno, he explained his theory of betting. The book on his life "I Want to Quit Winners," tells his philosophy. If his is winning at any time he'll never walk away a loser. When he wins, he lays it in. He will never increase his bet when he is losing. For instance: His first bet of $100 loses. His next bet of $100 also loses. His next bet of $100 wins for a return of $200. He immediately increases his next bet another $100 to $300. If it loses, his next bet is $100 or even $50.

If the $300 bet wins, his next bet is either $400 or $500. That's his theory. Try it for $5 even $1. The temptation to increase your bet, when you are losing, to get your money back, must be overcome.
