

A Wonderful Lady

BY RABBI SAMUEL M. SILVER

I bow low to a wonderful lady named Mrs. Dickerman Hollister.

In case you haven't heard yet, Mrs. Hollister a Christian housewife who lives in Greenwich, Conn., is the founder of The Temple of Understanding Idea.

Conceived about ten years ago, the idea calls for the construction of an edifice in Washington D.C., with six sides.

This hexagon will house a non-stop course in comparative religion.

Featuring the six leading religions of the world (Judaism, Christianity, Hinduism, Mohammedanism, Confucianism and Buddhism) the building will contain an area in which each will be expounded by experts.

Mrs. Hollister dreams of her edifice as a great tourist attraction in Washington.

Subject of a long article in Life Magazine and other periodicals, Mrs. Hollister has attracted to her project many people throughout the world.

One befriended by Eleanor Roosevelt, Mrs. Hollister has traveled about the world advocating her idea. She has met with Pope Paul and with distinguished Jewish personages (such as Rabbi Israel Goldstein) as well as leaders of all the religions within her orbit.

Institutes have been held in India, in Switzerland, at Harvard and Princeton Universities and many other places.

If you like the idea (which has been termed a Spiritual United Nations, SUNO,) write Mrs. Hollister for more information. You can reach her by writing to her at Greenwich, Conn.

Virtual Bachelorhood

BY RABBI SAMUEL M. SILVER

In Brooklyn there's a temple named Beth Emeth. It's in the Flatbush section and for years they had a valorous rabbi named Dr. Samuel Soskin, a sweet and liberal spirit he was. He died not so long ago and the new rabbi is a fine leader named Cyrus Arfa and their newly, acquired president is the wellknown jurist, Judge Abraham Multer, who served in the U.S. Congress and on social action commissions on behalf of the Reform movement.

I write about the temple to day because something else exceptional took place. The congregations's Sisterhood had a couple of co-presidents. For three years they served and as their tenure terminated, their spouses broke into poetry. The poem is so charming it ought to be read widely. Here it is, the work of Dr. Stanley Greenfield and Henry Bayles, who deserve our thanks:

We are happy husbands -- happy husbands are we,
Filled with happiness, joy and ecstasy.

During three long years, as you can see,
We husbands have drawn together in close camaraderie.

We are proud that our spouses have done so much good,
Collaborating as the Presidium of the Sisterhood.

To see our names in the Bulletin we confess has inflated our ego though prexied by Mrs.
You have all heard of the woman behind the man,
But try to remember if you can

That behind every busy woman there is a man unsung

Who patiently waits in the wings till her term is done.

It really is nice to bask in reflected glory,
But to tell the truth that's not the whole story.
The three long years have been marked, we can tell,

By the constant shrill sound of our telephone
bell,
Ringing in the morning, ringing noon and ringing night

With all sorts of problems to be set right.
We've heard all about agenda; bridge and teas,
Tours and theatre parties; they're always trying to please,

Acting as mediator, big sister and mother hen,
Attending Bar Mitzvahs and confirmations
without end.

So we hope you will forgive us when we say,
That we are glad a new Presidium is on the way.

We want to thank you all, fervently as we should
For rescuing us practically from bachelorhood.
But if you were to ask us -- did we enjoy it all?
Of course we did. We had a ball.

Sisterhood is so worthwhile and constructive that in the words of Nathan Hale we want it understood,

We both regret we have only one Wife to give,
To that wonderful organization, the Temple
Sisterhood!
