JEWISH COMMUNITY CENTER NEWS

BY STEVE HERMAN

The Jewish Community Center is a recreational center serving the Jewish Community of Las Vegas.

It is located at 1700 E. Oakey, next to the Temple. The center consists of a gymnasium, weight room, two handball courts, a sauna, men and women's locker rooms with showers, two pool tables, a color television, and a line of vending machines. In addition, also available are volleyball, street hockey, and checkers and chess. Temple members are eligible for free membership.

Many tournaments have been held at the center lately, including judo, handball, chess, pool and ping-pong.

The center will soon be hosting a basketball tournament for the junior high age. Competing in the tournament will be six city league teams and two center teams. Tournament director is the center junior high basketball coach, John Farrell. If our teams do fairly well in the tournament we'll have a good crack at having a city league team of our own next year.

We also have a senior high basketball team which is coached by former Rebel, Mike Moffitt.

For more information about the center, call 382-8621 or stop by.

The center is under the direction of Pete Margolis.
