

JACKSON BILL TO STOP RUSSIA

WASHINGTON (WNS) -- President Nixon, in a 134-page legislative proposal to Congress entitled the "Trade Reform Act of 1973," asked authority to extend U. S. trade benefits to any country, including the Soviet Union, without prior Congressional sanction when he deemed it in the national interest.

His proposals appeared to be asking for more presidential power over trade than any other American president in history to help meet the competition U. S. industry faces on overseas markets.

But he offered Congress a compromise in the form of a veto on the issue of granting most-favored nation status. Nixon said he would notify Congress at least 90 days in advance of concluding an agreement and if neither the House nor the Senate moved to block it, it would go into effect.

As soon as the President's request reached Congress, Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D, Wash.) introduced the legislative measure bearing his name that would withhold most-favored nation status from any country that denies its citizens the right to emigrate and which imposes more than nominal emigration fees.

KATCHALSKI, NEW ISRAELI PRESIDENT

JERUSALEM (WNS) Prof. Ephraim Katchalski, a 57-year-old Weizmann Institute biophysicist, won a first ballot victory in the Knesset April 10 to become Israel's fourth president.

The Labor Party candidate, Dr. Katchalski was elected by a vote of 66-41 with nine abstentions on a secret ballot defeating the National Religious Party's candidate, Prof. Ephraim Uhrbach.

The new president will take the oath of office May 24 and will reportedly Hebraize his name to Katzir, the name of his late brother Prof. Aharon Katzir, killed in the Lod Airport massacre last May 30.

He indicated he would be more active politically than his predecessors.

NEW YORK--The first national colloquium of Greek Orthodox and Jewish scholars held here recently emphasized that "both Greek Orthodoxy and Judaism believe that doctrines have meaning only if they lead to a right way of life," Rabbi Marc H. Tanenbaum, national director of the Interreligious Affairs Department of the American Jewish Committee, declared.
