

Only in Vegas By Helene Stadler

For the first time, scholarships are available to send Jewish high school youth to Israel for eight weeks, as part of a leadership training program. The scholarship will pay up to 50% of the total cost. The purpose is to develop youth leaders who will serve as catalysts for other youth in our community. If you know of some sharp Jewish high school youth, please have them contact the Center Office immediately, 382-8621.

An amendment to the President's new Foreign Trade Bill, prohibiting most-favored-nation treatment toward nations which impose fees as a condition to emigration, was introduced in the Senate with backing of Nevada Sens. Alan Bible and Howard Cannon.

If you consider yourself a silver-tongued orator, or even if you can speak reasonably well before groups, Margaret Purdue, executive director of the Volunteer Bureau of Clark County would like you to volunteer your services once or twice a month.

Mrs. Purdie is also looking for volunteers to help senior citizens living in convalescent homes. Duties will require planning arts and crafts activities, bringing magazines or books to read to patients, or mending and sewing. For information, call 382-5260.

Eddie and Sara are residents of Las Vegas again, which proves, once you live in Las Vegas and leave, nine times out of ten, you will return. There is just something about Las Vegas that gets in your blood and living in the desert (?) is missed. I remember when Jean and Harry Levy, Al Schulman, Doris and Al Swartz (and I can go on and on) who have left and then returned.

JEWISH COMMUNITY CENTER NEWS

BY STEVE HERMAN

The Center is now sponsoring a junior high softball team scheduled to begin play next week. The team is made up mainly of the boys who played on our championship basketball team. We hope they'll do just as good in softball as they did in basketball. Coach John Farrell commented, "We have about 16 games lined up and we plan to have a softball tournament at the end of the season."

Farrell was also the coach of two of the Center basketball teams.

The center sponsored a trip to the recent Pizza Hut Basketball Classic. Everybody enjoyed the game, and a few of us chatted with Jim O'Br-
