AT LAST, AT LAST, EGYPT LOOKS TO MIDEAST SOLUTION WITHOUT WAR

THE STUDENT STRUGGLE FOR SOVIET JEWRY APPEALS FOR 25-YEAR-OLD MOSCOW ACTIVIST MARK NASHPITZ AND HIS MOTHER, ITA, REPEATEDLY DENIED EXIT FROM THE USSR.

VIENNA (WNS) -- Egypt is looking for a "third door" that will settle the Middle East conflict without the use of force, Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohammed el-Zayyat said at a press conference ending his four-day visit to Austria.

Zayyat said the conflict "has to be closer to a solution that it was a year ago." "All options are being closed," he explained, and added that Egypt either has to accept "occupation and annexation" or to fight. "We are trying to find a third door, a solution to the conflict within international law", he said.

Zayyat had come to Vienna after visiting Yugoslavia on his way to the Security Council's debate on the Middle East. He said is going to the U.N. as an "unrepenting optimist" hoping for concrete results. He asserted that Egypt wants "to put an end to the war by putting an end to the occupation of our land."

Asked whether the Suez Canal would be opened before a settlement between Israel and Egypt, Zayyat replied, "We have one million refugees who lived in Suez. We cannot send them back to be killed by the fire of war."

'Scoop' Jackson Does It

While we wrote stories, Jews demonstrated and Jewish leaders tried appeasement, Sen. Henry M. Jackson got the real payoff for Jews from Leonid Brezhnev's visit to America.

Here is what Sen. Jackson told the U.S. Senate . . . . .

Statement on Senate Floor
Friday, July 13, 1973

Mr. President, I am extremely pleased to be able to report that Dr. Leonid Tarassuk, the internationally renowned Soviet museum authority whose year-long struggle to gain permission to emigrate drew worldwide attention and sympathy, has arrived in Vienna with his family.

I know that my colleagues, many of whom have expressed concern over the fate of the Tarassuks, join me in welcoming these brave people to the free world.

It is my hope that the Soviet government will correctly assess the determination of the American people and the U.S. Congress on the issue of individual liberty and that as the days go by we will be able to welcome to the free world many, many more individuals who have dared demand their fundamental human right to emigrate.

Dr. Tarassuk was the former Curator of European - American Arms and Armor at the famed Hermitage Museum in Leningrad. He and his wife, a conservator of decorative arts, were dismissed from the Hermitage, after applying to emigrate and were subsequently denied visas as well. The Tarassuks have two small children. Dr. Tarassuk's mother, who had been granted a visa, was unable to leave without her son because she is too old and too ill to travel alone.

Despite his own terrible ordeal, and at great personal risk, Dr. Tarassuk courageously lent encouragement and support to many other Soviet citizens who are harassed and intimidated by the Soviet government as a consequence of applying to emigrate.

Mr. President, given the especially compelling circumstances of the situation of Dr. Tarassuk and his family, I appealed directly to General Secretary Leonid Brezhnev in their behalf on April 11 of this year. In my letter I said:

"It is difficult to believe that the Soviet government would choose to extinguish rather than share with the international community the talents of these and other
