All Southern Nevada Veterans of Foreign War Posts are hosting a benefit dance on July 27, 1973, for the victims of the Kingman, Arizona, explosion at the VFW Post #1753, 705 Las Vegas Blvd. North, Las Vegas, Nevada. Donations are $2 minimum per person -- live music and fun for all, starting at 6:00 p.m.

On June 24, 1973, Herman Blut of Tucson, Arizona, father of attorney Jerome L. Blut of Las Vegas, was put to rest in Mount Vernon, New York. (Any loss to Jerry is a loss to all of us, J.T.)

Each of the 18 Las Vegas Recreation Department summer playgrounds will build a papier mache' model of a subject representative of a different country. As in the past these models will be on display in the Boulevard Mall from July 23rd through August 6th.

A display of English brass rubbings, belonging to Gladys Hopkins, will be featured in the Main Gallery of the Clark County Library, 1401 E. Flamingo Road, through August 11.

Nevada Sens. Alan Bible and Howard Cannon voted in favor of legislation that restores the right of American citizens to purchase, hold or trade gold.

JEWISH COMMUNITY CENTER NEWS

BY STEVE HERMAN

The junior high group that went to Zion National Park on Memorial Day Weekend returned to Zion on the weekend of July 6. The highlight of this trip was a five-mile hike through the famous Zion Narrows. The hike can be a dangerous one. We had to hike in the river 90% of the time. At some points on the hike we had to swim, since the current was very strong and the water was over our heads. Some parts of the canyon were so narrow that you could touch both sides with arms outstretched.

STEVE

We had to let the rangers know that we were taking the hike. In case of a flash flood they would send helicopters to rescue us. A flash flood would have sent water down the canyon at approximately 7 to 8 feet over our heads. We also held services on the campout. We had a Friday night service in which everybody contributed something. Saturday night we had a short Havdalah service, since everybody was tired out from the narrows hike.

blems getting to sleep on the campout. Night-time temperatures only dipped to 60 degrees compared to last time when it got down to 35 degrees. Daytime temperatures were not much cooler than those here; as the mercury rose to 107 degrees. Since we were in the canyon and in the water all day the heat did not bother us.

Gene Hamilton and Bob Healy were supervisors on the trip. Both work at the day camp. Gene is a group counselor and Bob is our environmental specialist.

The Center would like to welcome Romeo Martin to the day camp staff. Romeo is a driver for the vans.

A record influx of recreational vehicle travelers visiting this resort community will welcome the news that famed Stardust Camp-erland will be ready with 400 facilities to take care of huge summer crowds.

Congressman David Towell has introduced into the House of Representatives a bill which would restore cuts made in veterans' pensions under the Social Security law.

Sen. Howard Cannon is on record as a co-sponsor of legislation which provides severe mandatory punishment for persons using firearms to commit federal crimes.

Sure way to cure your summer cold. Go into Pat's Chinese Kitchen, eat his delicious egg flower soup with rice, it's even better than Mom's home made chicken soup and much tastier than penicillin.

Oops! That June 29 article by Rabbi Sam Silver telling about Albert Schlossberg being elected JWV national commander was a nice piece but it was about two years old. His term ended August 1971. Since then Jerry Cohen and Norman Tellis have served as commanders. Next month in Hollywood, Florida, a new commander will be elected. Major Sid Kaye was first to spot the boo-boo.
