ASKS SYRIA ABIDE BY GENEVA RULES

NEW YORK.....Gen. Lucius D. Clay (Ret.) who served as U. S. Military Governor in the American zone of occupied Germany after World War II, called on the government of Syria to abide by the Geneva Convention in its treatment of Israeli prisoners captured during the recent battles between Syria and Israel on the Golan Heights.

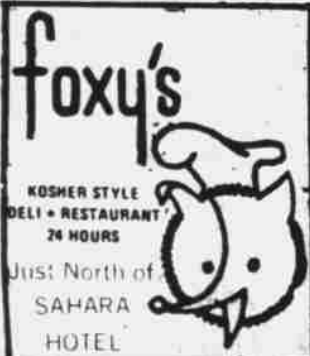

He made his statement in his capacity as Chairman of the Committee of Concern for minorities in Arab lands.

Noting that "the joint U.S. - Soviet cease-fire initiative included an understanding that there should be an immediate exchange of prisoners of war," General Clay urged the two major powers to "use their good offices to impress upon the Syrian authorities the need to alleviate this unnecessary human suffering."

General Clay's comments were in reaction to recent revelations of murder and brutalities committed against Israeli prisoners in Syria. Pictures and reports coming out of Syria have indicated that Israeli soldiers were shot to death at close range while their hands and feet were bound, that their eyes were gouged out, and that they were subjected to other atrocities.

United States and Soviet intervention with Syria on behalf of the Israeli prisoners "could be a vital first step toward negotiation of a just and lasting peace in the Middle East," General Clay declared.
