BEN GURION BURIED AT SDE BOKER

SDE BOKER (WNS) --Former Premier David began to weep as Ben Ben Gurion was laid to Gurion's son, Amos, rest in the tiny desert kibbutz of Sde Boker where he has made his home for 20 years. The simple grave was dug in a sandstone cliff over-looking a Negev desert landscape --- the Biblical "Wilderness of Zin," next to the grave of his wife Paula who died in 1968.

Before the body was borne here there was a 28--minute religious ceremony at the Knesset there. His writing and in which leaders of the nation and representatives of world Jewry and of friendly foreign governments took their leave of the founder of modern Israel. No eulogies were given at Ben Gurion's request. Chief Army Chaplain Mordechai Firon read a short prayer he had composed to God for "the pure and noble soul of the chosen one of the people. David son of Avigdor, architect of Israel's independence. May the whole House of Israel blessed in your memory for evermore."
