

LAS VEGAN'S GRANDSON IN ISRAEL

Sgt. Sandy Goldberg, 24, who served 18 months in Viet Nam and two and a half years in the European Theatre as a radio technician, flew to Israel at his own expense on the outbreak of the Yom Kippur War.

He was enrolled in the University of Calif. as a medical student.

Upon arrival in Israel he was assigned to a Kibbutz, where he remained after the cease fire, and is working on the harvesting.

Sgt. Sandy is a typical American youth, who is sacrificing his own career at this time to come to the aid of Israel in need.

Most proud of Sgt. Sandy is his grandfather Frank Goldberg, long time resident and businessman in Las Vegas. Frank, incidentally is a Sabra, having been born in Israel when the land was ruled by Turkey.

Frank and his lovely wife, Wanda, visit Israel each year and urge all who have not done so to make the trip and see what the Israeli's have accomplished in the desert.

"If they can't visit," says Frank, "by all means buy Israel bonds."

Life Spanned Entire Era of Modern Zionism

By HERMAN L. WEISMAN (PRES. OF ZOA)

The Zionist Organization of America joins the people of Israel in feeling the sense of national loss caused by the death of David Ben-Gurion. His courage to live by his convictions will remain an inspiration for Jews of the world in the coming generations to maintain the security and viability of the State of Israel.

In the long history of the Jewish people, resplendent with brilliant intellects, men of moral vision, and soldiers of marchless valor, the saga of David Ben-Gurion's life occupies a special chapter. His determination in 1948 to seize the moment for ending the 2000 year old burden of Jewish statelessness required all of the major qualities, any one of which is normally a sufficient mark of a man's greatness.

David Ben-Gurion's life spanned the entire era of modern Zionism, from the decisive second Aliya to the fulfillment of the grand task of achieving a sovereign Jewish State, the ongoing ingathering of the exiles, and securing the state and its people. His personality and mind shaped the course of Zionism through all these tasks, which involved nothing less than the regeneration of both a people and its land.

Great decisions never command unanimous assent, and indeed not everyone considered all of Ben-Gurion's decisions to be wise. But the national policies that he pursued after 1948 shall live long after the tactical debates of yesterday shall have been forgotten. It is the national policies that he pursued after 1948 without regard to party interests that will serve as his monument, for by these acts he became the architect of the Jewish State.

Ben-Gurion was above all the founder of the Israel Defense Forces, both sword and shield for Israel's independence.
