The Las Vegas Branch of the NAACP is requesting that our Senators Alan Bible and Howard Cannon vote against the amendment to the Energy Bill setting gas usage for school bussing from one school district to another as the last priority. It is viewed as another set-back in the plight of the Black American in his quest of equal educational opportunities.

Anyone can reach the school district any hour by dialing 736-5011, and persons who see suspicious activity around a school are urged to do just that, according to security chief Bill Scherkenbach.

736-5011 is the general switchboard number for the school district. At night and on weekends, the number rings directly into the school district's security office.

Scherkenbach said he was "especially anxious" that the public understand that they can reach the district over the holidays. "Anytime we shut down schools for two weeks, the danger of malicious vandalism and burglary increases. Citizens can help us by reporting any and all suspicious activity," he said.

He urged citizens to call without hesitation. "We don't mind chasing down false alarms at all," he said.

The school district operates several roving patrol cars evenings and on weekends, all of which are radio equipped. When a call comes in regarding suspicious activity around a school, one car is dispatched to the scene while others continue their routine patrols.

The Nevada State Judges' Association, composed of the state's 64 justices of the peace and municipal judges was addressed by Lt. Governor Harry Reid, on "The Judicial Branch Needs Justice Too."

State Supreme Court Justice E.M. "Al" Gunderson led a discussion on recent "Impact Decisions" of the U.S. Supreme Court, that affect Nevada's courts of limited jurisdiction.

Sid Hudson, 30 year Las Vegas resident and businessman, is 100% in support of Sheriff Ralph Lamb's request for 180 additional men to maintain law and order. Sid suggests an added businessmen's tax, which he would be happy to pay.
