MRS. MEIR TO QUERY MISSING POWs

JERUSALEM (WNS)- After receiving the names of 65 Israeli prisoners of war held by Syria from Sec'y. of State Henry A. Kissinger, Premier Golda Meir went on television and promised that Israel will seek to determine the fate of 18 others still missing. She said there was evidence that some of the missing men were killed in combat. "We shall not cease our efforts until each one of our sons comes back from captivity," she said.

The 65 included 62 Israeli soldiers and three Arabs from the Bedouin village of Rubba near Rosh Pina in the Upper Galilee. The list Kissinger brought from Damascus was in Arabic and a helicopter rushed the list to the Tel Aviv manpower office where the names were translated, checked and corrected. Couriers were then sent to the homes of the POWs to bring the good news. Each was accompanied by a medical corpsman.. in.....cases.....mothers fainted.

All 31 soldiers missing from a position on Mt Hermon was captured by the Syrians in the first hours of the Yom Kippur War were on the list. So are a number of Air Force men presumed to have been killed, while others seen bailing out and presumed alive were not.

LATE NEWS FLASH

Premier Golda Meir, who stated on Sunday she was going to resign on Monday, reconsidered on Tuesday and agreed to attempt to form a new minority government with Moshe Dayan accepting his post as Defense Minister.

Henry Kissinger, returning from his Mideast trip, said if the Israeli Govt. crisis was not solved it could wreck the peace mission.

(Following story was filed Mar. 4)

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- With the Rafi faction of the Labor Party continuing to refuse to serve in a minority government, Premier Golda Meir has announced she has given up after weeks of exhausting efforts her attempt to form a new government.

Mrs. Meir left a meeting of top Labor officials red-eyed and telephoned President Ephraim Katzir to inform him unofficially of her decision that she would return to him the mandate to form a government. The party leaders had been meeting in the Knesset to work out a slate of Cabinet members following a decision by the eight-member Rafi group, led by Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, not to take part in the government. Rafi decided to demand a unity government which would include the opposition Likud.

Dayan has suggested that the Rafi faction decline to serve in a narrow government but nevertheless support it in the Knesset. Mrs. Meir reportedly felt that a minority government on such a basis would have no real support

Child Haven is Child Heaven

TODDLERS AT CHILD HAVEN HAVE RECREATION PERIOD UNDER THE WATCHFUL EYE OF TODDLER COUNSELOR, MRS. ANDREA KRUGER. IN BACKGROUND IS TEEN BOY COTTAGE.

In Las Vegas we have a Child Haven, a veritable "Child Heaven."

While the air is filled with stories of crime, corruption and public misappropriation, we in Southern Nevada can relax with the knowledge that abandoned, neglected and abused children have a temporary shelter of the highest standards. If anything will bring about decent, law-abiding adults of the future it is the admirable treatment accorded children in unfortunate circumstances by the most considerate directors, counselors and foster grand parents of Child Haven.

After all, disgruntled children, who at the very least are disillusioned with society, are most prone to be law evaders when they grow up. But the gap between a life of questionable surroundings and the next step towards normalcy is filled adequately and most promising by a stay, albeit short, at our local agency of Child Protective Services located at 3401 E. Bonanza Road.

On January 28, 1973 Child Haven became operative with a teenage cottage each for boys and girls up to 18 years of age, a couple
