

JOYOUS REUNION OF ISRAELI POWs

TEL AVIV (WNS) -- Israeli prisoners of war returned to Israel stepping out into the arms of their loved ones in a joyous reunion at Ben Gurion Airport.

As soon as the Red Cross chartered plane carrying 53 Israeli soldiers and three Bedouin civilians landed, the hundreds of joyful relatives surged past the barricades to embrace the returnees and hoist them on their shoulders.

Premier Yitzhak Rabin, who came to greet the POW's, tore up his prepared speech. "Words are unnecessary," he said. "You can see what's happening here."

The final POW exchange, wounded prisoners had been returned earlier, came exactly eight months to the day of the Syria-Egyptian attack on Israel on Yom Kippur.

The returning POW's appeared to be in good condition. However, later some of the POW's described mistreatment and torture at the hands of their Syrian captors. At the same time the Israelis were returned, 382 Syrian POW's were flown to Damascus.

Meanwhile on the Damascus-Kuneitra road in the Golan Heights Israel & Syria exchanged the bodies of dead soldiers.
