Panovs, 2 of Thousands

The joy that welcomed the news that Valery and Galina Panov were receiving exit visas to leave the Soviet Union has to be tempered by the thought that more than 100,000 other Soviet Jews are still waiting for an answer to their applications for emigration. As the British Jewish women who were picketing the performance of the Bolshoe Ballet in London said: "The Panovs are just two people. Thousands more are being persecuted."

(At press time, the Panovs arrived and are settled in Israel.)

The Panov case was an international cause celebre particularly enlisting the support of performing artists who were incensed over the fact that two such talented ballet dancers could not work for over two years simply because they had applied to go to Israel. But others languish in Soviet jails and labor camps for the same reason and many others have also lost their jobs for applying for exit visas.

This is why President Nixon's Annapolis speech claiming that the Jackson-Mills-Vanik amendments would be harmful to detente is disturbing. Since the Soviet Union theoretically also benefits from detente the USSR should be required to make some concessions. The Soviets apparently realize this somewhat and the release of the Panovs on the eve of President Nixon's trip to Moscow may have been a gesture toward supporters of the Jackson Amendment in Congress.

But it is not enough and the President has the duty while in Moscow to make every effort to convince the Soviet leaders that they must allow Jews and others to emigrate and to stop the harrassment of those who apply for visas. The release of the Panovs should be followed by the release of all others who wish to go.

Hail, Kissinger!

by Rabbi Samuel Silver

Kissinger is very much a man. Yet he is more than a man. He's a phenomenon. His feats are unparalleled and unprecedented. Without his touch, irreconcilable groups cannot come to terms.

He must personally be on hand to work his charm upon those whose separateness can otherwise not be bridged.

Where does he get his patience? Where does he get his ingenuity?

There is no secret about where he gets his motivation. He gets it from his devout parents who made it clear that Jews must be wedded to peace. Despite his intermarriage and flouting of Jewish practices, his Jewish Hope. Here is an eleemosynary organization in its 61st year where never a bill has been issued, nor has anyone ever paid one penny for hospital services rendered by the City of Hope. Clark County residents alone, during the past three years have received in excess of $400,000 in A-1 medical care. The $12.50 per person donation to attend the ball will be the best gift anyone can make. For reservations call 735-2739 or 870-2754. Or show up at the Dunes on Sunday prior to 6 P.M. and ask for Coordinator Mrs. Regina Cassady, whose tireless efforts have been bringing us turn-away, successful affairs for many years.

About Sammy Cohen not enough can be written. As the founder of the Spring Mountain Youth Fund, we recall how he personally raised the money to build a swimming pool for the boys. What was off the record until now, we reveal how Sammy sent steaks up on Saturday to make certain the unfortunate youngsters had a wholesome Sunday dinner.

Sammy spends time learning what is not provided for in the state budget, then sets about bringing goodies for the youngsters. His surprises go to Child Haven, Nevada School for Girls at Caliente, Nevada Boys School at Elko, So. Nev. Children's Home in Boulder City and the Ettie Hunt Home for Boys. What a Sammy?

He is also Chief Barker for the Variety Club which supports special education for handicapped children at the Variety School and Variety Day Care Center. Sammy is a member of the Blue Coats which provides $1,000 to the widow of a policeman or fireman killed in the line of duty.

Judy Foley is a member of Junior National Honor Society and the National Honor Society. She received the High School Outstanding Leadership Award and the City of Hope Angel Award. She was president of her "Class of 1973" when she graduated from Bishop Gorman High School. She is presently a freshman at U.N.L.V. and a Lenz model.

The committee for the City of Hope Governor's Regal Ball reads like a Who's Who of Las Vegas. In addition to the governor and judges the list includes names like Wyman, Goldman, Bell, Dedericks, Bramley, Brown, Mulroy, Bilbray, Santini, Fields, Mendoza, Romeo, Ginn, Van Pelt, and others.

If you can't make it to the dinner, send in a donation to Your City of Hope, Terry Romeo Chapter #199, 1644 Sombrero Drive, Las Vegas, Nevada 89109.

You'll be able to shave with a clear conscience in the morning.
