BY EDITH ROBBINS
(Secy. Beth Sholom Seniors)

Passover is just over for this year, but like the song, "the melody lingers on," in the minds of the fifteen Jewish people in the three convalescent homes visited by Mr. Sam Stein. During the afternoon of Passover Eve, he visited the Vegas Valley Convalescent Home, Beverly Manor Convalescent Home and Las Vegas Convalescent Home, where he sought out fifteen Jewish people who would not be celebrating the Seder amongst their families.

With funds provided by the Beth Sholom Seniors Club, Sam and his good wife purchased provisions and made up packages of Passover matzos, macaroons, small individual bottles of wine, hard boiled eggs and fruits, which they presented to each one visited.

Sam has been visiting convalescent homes as well as shut-ins for some time and says the smiles, handshakes and thanks he receives tell how much these visits are appreciated. Added to this, the gift packages were most nostalgic. Well done, Sam! Beth Sholom Seniors chose the right man and are proud of you.

The Art Department at UNLV will sponsor an exhibition and sale of original prints from Davidson Galleries on Thursday, April 24.
