SYRIA EXTENDS UN MANDATE FORCE 6 MONTHS

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- The announcement at the United Nations that Syria has agreed to a six-month extension of the mandate for the UN Disengagement Observer Force on the Golan Heights has been greeted in Jerusalem with deliberate restraint.

Syria had been expected to renew the mandate for only two months so that it would expire at the end of July the same time as Egypt's three-month extension. Meanwhile observers note that both Syria and Jordan are continuing their military preparations and Israeli forces are prepared for any military action by Syria. Israeli military observers believe Syria extended the mandate because of the strong Israeli presence on the Golan.

Meanwhile Israeli officials are speculating whether the recent reduction of Egyptian forces east of the Suez Canal represents an easing of tension prior to the reopening of the canal or whether it is a tactical military move to prepare for a massive crossing of the canal by Egyptian troops and armor now deployed on the canal's west bank. The Egyptians have withdrawn a considerable portion of the 7000 troops, 36 cannons and several dozen tanks they are allowed to keep east of the canal under the disengagement agreement with Israel.
