JERUSALEM (WNS) -- Premier Yitzhak Rabin returned to Israel from Washington and declared that he hoped all the participants had learned that no negotiations could be carried out for an Israeli-Egyptian interim agreement until all sides had settled about 90 percent of their differences first.

Rabin stressed that if Egyptian President Anwar Sadat wants peace "now is the time to do it." He said Israel's position was thoroughly explained in the United States. "I would not say that all I said was accepted by the Americans, but at the same time not everything that was said by the Americans was accepted by me," he noted.

Meanwhile Rabin's office angrily denied a report in Maariv that Rabin and President Ford had reached a "secret agreement" in Washington on an interim agreement between Israel and Egypt. The Cabinet adopted a resolution endorsing the continuation of negotiations for an interim agreement. The resolution stipulated that the negotiations would be conducted according to the positions approved by the Cabinet before Rabin's departure for Washington.

The two Independent Liberal party ministers, Moshe Kol and Gideon Hausner, abstained, arguing that negotiations should not be left solely to Rabin. Foreign Minister Yigal Allon, and Defense Minister Shimon Peres. They also objected to negotiations for an interim

US OIL COMPANIES PROMOTE ARABS

NEW YORK (WUP) -- "American oil companies have donated at least $9 million to various Arab propaganda groups over the past eight years."

Thus TIME Magazine, in its June 23 issue, revealed in an article entitled "Pushing the Arab Cause In America." "Aramco, a consortium composed of Saudi Arabians, Exxon, Mobil, Texaco and Standard Oil of California," the article notes, "gives about $200,000 a year to support groups in the Arab lobby. In the past twelve years, Mobil has donated $170,000. Exxon, excluding its gifts for Arab students at various U.S. schools contributes about $150,000 a year."

The article goes on to state that "most oil companies are reluctant to discuss such gifts."

TIME points out that there are some 20 organizations in the U.S. involved in "carrying the Arabs' message." These groups range from so-called moderate scholarly enterprises to a number with an abrasively propagandistic bent. "The Arab nations' embassies and consulates -- particularly those of Egypt, Kuwait and Jordan -- have been active in spreading information.

Vegas Attractions

School is out, summer is here, vacation is on your mind, touring is uppermost and Las Vegas is ready to welcome you.

Each year at this time we take you from the southern tip of the Strip on a tour of the entertainment offered right on through to Fremont Street. The attractions, as usual, are unbearable, and the food and service are comparable to anywhere in the world.

Starting with the Hacienda, the "SPICE ON ICE" show is just as its name indicates, a frisky, frolic on ice skates, a comfortable contrast to the 100 degree temperatures outside.

The Tropicana, known as the Tiffany of the Strip, is presenting the latest edition of "FOLIES BERGERE," a bigger, better extravaganza.

The Marina, the newest hotel-casino, is a delightful addition to the Vegas skyline with a Spinning Wheel show, "LOVE AFFAIR" starring DICK CONTINO. Drop in and be surprised.

The Aladdin is featuring Barry Ashton's "VIVE PARIS VIVE."

Across the Strip, the Dunes extravaganza "CASINO DE PARIS" is packing them in with the best edition of the famous French revue.

Back over to the east side of the Strip, a city, known as M.G.M. Grand has songstar HELEN REDDY and funster RUTH BUZZI in the main room, to be followed by JACKSON FIVE, SHECKY GREENE and DEAN MARTIN. And don't forget the Jai Alai with pari-mutual betting.

At the Flamingo, there's CONNIE STEVENS and KELLY MONTEITH to be followed by THE LETTERMEN and MYRON COHEN.

Across the Strip at Caesars Palace, FRANK SINATRA carries the usual hypnotism of holding those lucky to get in, in the palm of his hand. With him is ace comic PAT HENRY. Following them are ANDY WILLIAMS and PAUL ANKA.

RUSTY ISABEL is the attraction at the Castaways.

At the world-famous Sands, RICH LITTLE and MEL TORME, to be followed by WAYNE NEWTON maintain the precedent of world-famous entertainment.

At the Holiday, Frank Sennes is presenting "THE WILD WORLD OF BURLESQUE."

At the Frontier are those popular standbys, ROBERT GOULET and CAROL LAWRENCE, who will be followed by BOB NEWHART.

Across the Strip, the world-famous Desert Inn is presenting JULIET PROWSE and NIPSY
