

DA'S ASK CRIME CONGRESS TO OUST PLA

NEW YORK -- Top officers of the National District Attorneys Association, the largest national organization of prosecuting officials in the world, called on the United Nations' Congress on crime, which was scheduled to open September 1 in Geneva, Switzerland, to rescind its invitation to the Palestine Liberation Organization to participate in the meeting.

They also urged the U.N. Congress to develop a definition of "terrorism" that would not permit any political justification for "the commission of crimes recognized under international laws, such as murder, kidnapping, assault, robbery, hijacking, extortion, or any other criminal activity."

They warned that the PLO has boasted that it has the support of the United Nations in its terrorist activities, and declared that, unless the forthcoming Congress outlaws such actions, the "blame and responsibility" for future occurrences "will fall solely on the United Nations."

Robert F. Leonard, Vice President of the NDAA, and Preston Trimble, Chairman of the Board of the organization, made their statements in a letter to Gerhard O. W. Mueller, Executive Secretary of the Fifth United Nations Congress on the Prevention of Crime and Treatment of Offenders. The letter was also signed by more than 45 other District Attorneys from across the country, all of whom are executive officers of the 7,000 member NDAA, representing the chief law enforcement officers in the United States.

quests for some items representing new or advanced technology remain pending until completion of the re-assessment."

When Israeli Ambassador Simcha Dinitz was asked by newsmen about the slowdown, he replied that his government was not completely satisfied with the flow of arms to Israel. But he maintained it was "neither an embargo nor a stoppage" adding "naturally we would like to see more openness and a greater flow" of supplies.

But Rabbi Israel Miller, chairman of the Conference of Presidents of Major American Jewish Organizations, charged that "the Administration is playing with fire by promoting the sale of huge amounts of arms to the Arab world while delaying consideration of new Israeli requests pending the completion of the 'reassessment' of American policy in the Middle East." He said the sales of arms by the U.S., Britain and France to the Arab states "are rapidly changing the balance of power in the Middle East in the Arabs' favor, diminishing Israel's ability to deter attack and thus threatening to plunge the Middle East into another war."

U.S. CUTS

MILITARY ITEMS TO ISRAEL

WASHINGTON (WNS) -- "Certain" military items are not being delivered to Israel, it has been admitted by the State Department.

But Dept. spokesman denied that the supply pipeline is closed.

Anderson's comments followed an earlier admission that the U.S. is considering selling defensive weapons, but not air planes, to the Yemen Arab Republic (North Yemen), which for the last 20 years has received all of its arms from the Soviet Union.

Anderson denied that the U. S. has suspended or slowed down delivery to Israel as a means of pressuring Israel into making more concessions in the Sinai negotiations with Egypt. He said that since April 1, the U. S. has shipped more than $100 million in military equipment to Israel. "There are certain items where deliveries have not been made for such reasons as not being available, production schedules and special technology," he said. "As we have indicated previously, re-

SOVIET STUMBLING BLOCKS FOR JEWS

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- One of the reasons for the steady decline in aliya from the Soviet Union is that the Soviet authorities have placed additional stumbling blocks in the path of potential Jewish emigrants, Jewish Agency chairman Pinhas Sapir told the presidium of the Zionist General Council.

He said this included a series of increases in payment for passports, visas taxes, and other items. The hikes, while individually not large, make it harder for Jews to leave, he said. Sapir said that Soviet aliya figures for the first half of 1975 are 4710 compared to 9700 during the same period last year. Sapir said only 500 Soviet Jews immigrated to Israel in July, mainly because of the hardening of the Soviet position in emigration.

Sapir also said that half of Rumania's 60,000 Jews wanted to emigrate and if the Rumanian government honored its pledge there would be a considerable increase in aliya from the country. Sapir expressed satisfaction with the results of the United Jewish Appeal campaign in which cash income had reached $166 million already, a 38 percent rise, and with the campaign of United Israel Appeal--Keren Hayesod with $96 million in cash already collected, the same figure as last year.
