LEWIS, TERESA BREWER JAMMING SAHARA

The exciting entertainment combination of comedian Jerry Lewis and singing star Teresa Brewer has the Congo Room of Del Webb's Hotel Sahara jammed for two shows nightly.

An American institution, Lewis is one of the most versatile performers ever featured on a nightclub stage. Uninitiated audiences, accustomed only to Jerry's screen antics, are amazed by the tremendous versatility he displays on-stage.

Equally at home with vocals, ad-libs, pantomime, sight gags or songs, Lewis captures any audience with the ease of a magician.

At his absolute best in the intimate confines of the Sahara Congo Room, Lewis gallops through a non-stop hour of gags and songs with polished perfection.

Teresa Brewer is the living proof that good singers, like good wines, improve with age. It's been 20 years since the bouncy belter from Toledo sang "Music, Music, Music," with that perky bounce in her voice, but Miss Brewer looks and sounds half her age.

A thorough professional, Miss Brewer has a voice that is easily converted to country music, which she says is her favorite. She also spices her show with an abundance of pop and jazz songs. To vary her act she adds a few ballads which never fail to please audiences.

Eddy Arnold, George Gobel open October 23.

TAYLOR, TAYLOR, EVERYWHERE.....At least that's what it seems like in trying to keep up with and keep track of the King of Pandemonium, crying comedian RIP TAYLOR. Rip pops up from every part of the U.S. and in such rapid succession that every news report about him is always two days late and he's off and running (or playing) somewhere else. In the past month for instance, Rip's been at Harrah's in Reno, then back to Vegas, then in Philadelphia on the Mike Douglas Show, then back to Los Angeles for more tv guestings, then in Las Vegas doing the Merv Griffin Show from Caesars Palace, the in Lake Tahoe, then on tv again in his "Sigmund and the Sea Monsters" running role as The Genie, then home to Vegas to buy another house (he already has two here), then in L.A., at Merv Griffin surprise part at Le Bistro, then suddenly he's appearing at the Playboy Club in Lake Geneva. By the time you read this, Rip will have opened at the Playboy Club in Century City, L.A. and by the time you finish the column, he's opening at the Playboy in San Francisco.....

STRIP BITS & PIECES.....A former Las Vegas who lived here just long enough to dabble a bit in show business, agenting, personal management, and promotion, is well on his way to becoming a young millionaire. AL CADEAUX, originally from Casablanca, Morocco, and more recently from Washington, D.C. (where his family owns beauty salons in several of the more elegant suburbs), Griffin Show from Caesars Palace, then in Lake Tahoe, then on tv again in his "Sigmund and City, Maryland which happens to be "THE RESORT" for the D.C., Virginia, Maryland, and already has two here), then in L.A., at the Merv Griffin surprise party at Le Bistro, then past summer and has been busily expanding both the walls and the entertainment policy. The Hurricane can now accommodate up to 1500
